Applying for a Change of Visa Status from H1-B to F-1

H-1B visa holders are allowed to study in an academic program with no restrictions as far as online or face to face course enrollment. Any study must be incidental to the h1-B primary objective which is employment. Below is the general guidance for H1-B visa holders who are considering changing their visa status to F-1:

- The change of status application has to be received by USCIS while the H1-B is still in a valid status. While there may be a general 60-day “grace period” after the completion of the H1-B status the ISSS cannot advise on the availability of any “grace period” after the H1-B status has expired. As long as the change of status application is received by USCIS while the H-1B is in status then USCIS will generally adjudicate the application even if the H-1B status expires. Please note this is at the discretion of USCIS.
- While USCIS general processing times are 2-3 months, most change of statuses will take much longer. Many change of status applications have taken up to nine (9) months for USCIS to process and some schools have reported a processing time of over twelve (12) months. Students should plan for a minimum USCIS processing time of between four (4) and nine (9) months.
- Applicants may contact USCIS after 90 days from their application receipt notice date to inquire about their application. There are very limited options to request an expedite for an application and to learn more about USCIS’s expedite policy go to USCIS Expedite. The ISSS cannot intervene with USCIS to request an expedite.
- Students filing for a change of status will not be eligible for any benefits related to the F-1 visa status (i.e. employment) until the start date for the next available semester that proceeds the approval notice date.
- Once the application is filed you cannot travel outside the U.S. or your change of visa status will be considered abandoned.
- Once your change of visa status is approved, the next time you travel outside the U.S. you will be required to apply for an F-1 visa before you will be permitted to re-enter the U.S.
- You will be required to attend the next available International Student Orientation.
- You will be required to enroll in the System Student Health Insurance Plan (SSHIP) unless you meet one of the allowed waivers.
Documents Required to Change Your Status from H-1B to F-1

Below is a checklist of all documents required for the change of status (COS). It is your responsibility to provide all documents as listed below.
