The Department of Residential Living and Learning (RLL) is responsible for maintaining facilities, providing for social interaction, and educational programming and services in support of the on-campus community. Faculty members concerned about the behavior or attendance of one of their students are encouraged to submit a TAMUC CARE report. RLL is responsible for conferences and camps hosted at the university, including the University Interscholastic League (UIL) and the PAL Conference. All programs involving minors go through RLL for review. Faculty interested in bringing a conference or summer camp to the university should contact the RLL Associate Director of Business Operations at 903-886-5799.

RLL works most directly with faculty through the creation and maintenance of Living and Learning Communities (LLCs) and facilitating programming and educational opportunities within the residence halls and apartments. LLC is a special residential program that may be directly tied to an academic or social program, and often is tied to a specific residence hall where students live together. For example, the STEM LLC is located in Whitley Hall on the 6th Floor and is a partnership between the College of Science and Engineering and RLL. Faculty interested in establishing a Living and Learning Community tied to their academic program should contact the Director of Residential Living and Learning at 903-886-5796.

RLL also works closely with Sodexo to provide meal plan options for students and faculty/staff. Faculty interested in purchasing a faculty/staff meal plan should call or email RLL at 903-886-5797 or residencelife@tamuc.edu
