Reason for Procedure

This procedure identifies and describes the purpose, awards, and eligibility for faculty recognition at A&M-Commerce.

Procedures and Responsibilities

1 REGENTS PROFESSOR AWARD

1.1 Purpose: Each year, the Board of Regents of The Texas A&M University System honors individuals at the rank of professor or equivalent whose distinguished performance in teaching, research, and service has been exemplary. The award is the highest honor bestowed by the A&M System on faculty members. The performance of those selected is considered meritorious and worthy of recognition of their achievements that had an impact on not only their institution or agency, but also the community, the state of Texas, and/or at the national and international levels.

1.2 Award: The Regents Professor Award is based on the accomplishments of the nominee up through the past fiscal year. The designation of Regents Professor is the highest System-wide honor and it also carries with it significant responsibilities. Regents Professors are expected to function as role models within the A&M System and to devote appropriate service to System-wide activities, both ceremonial and professional, when requested to do so by their chief executive officer and/or the chancellor. The recipient shall retain the title of Regents Professor for the duration of their service within the A&M System. Recipients receive a monetary stipend of $15,000, payable as a non-based award. The stipend will be funded from each respective agency through the normal budgeting process.
The Regents Professor recipient is given a special commemorative medallion bearing the seal of the A&M System. The medallion is designed to be worn on occasions when academic regalia is required. The medallion, inscribed nameplate and certificate, signed by the Chancellor and Chairman of the Board of Regents, are presented to the Regents Professor recipients at the special recognition ceremony.

1.3 Eligibility: A nominee for the Regents Professor award shall be a full-time faculty member who has held the rank of professor or equivalent for a period of not less than five (5) consecutive years within an A&M System university or agency (i.e., agency to mean the engineering or agriculture components) and may include department heads provided the faculty responsibilities are not overshadowed by the administrative duties.

1.3.1 Have a demonstrated record of distinguished teaching.

1.3.2 Have a demonstrated record of distinguished accomplishments in research and other creative and scholarly activities.

1.3.3 Have a demonstrated record of outstanding service at the local, state and/or national/ international levels.

1.3.4 Have a demonstrated record of commitment to the university or agency.

1.3.5 A record of notable indicators of the potential for continuation of distinguished performance in all three areas (i.e., teaching, research, and service).

1.4 Nomination Packet: The primary evaluation of the candidate’s qualifications shall be the responsibility of the university/agency. The following documents shall be submitted as part of the university nomination packet for a candidate to be considered a nominee:

1.4.1 Nominating Letter: A letter of nomination submitted to the selection/review committee from any of the following: deans, department heads, directors, program chairs, administrators, award committees, and individual or groups of faculty members.

1.4.2 Summary presentation (third person, five page maximum, single space, 12 point font): The summary presentation should be a compilation of the nominee’s most outstanding qualifications, major achievements, and contributions with clearly demonstrated superior performance in teaching, research, and service. This can be achieved through a personal statement by the nominee establishing the importance of his/her accomplishments in each of the three categories (teaching, research and service) or as part of a nomination package prepared by their unit. Since a curriculum vitae will be a part of this packet, the statement should attempt to go beyond what is in the vitae.

1.4.3 Vitae (25 page maximum): A current and moderately detailed vitae highlighting the nominee’s career and outstanding accomplishments. Please delete all personal references such as marital status and family references.
1.4.4 Optional Supporting Material (five page maximum): Samples of teaching, scholarship, research and service related materials which further endorse the nominee’s candidacy.

1.4.5 A nominee must electronically submit an application packet addressing each of the above items, which encompass the criteria used to make the selection.

1.5 The Faculty Senate Awards Committee will review and evaluate all nominees’ application packages and make a recommendation to the full Faculty Senate and the Provost’s Office. The selected nominee will be announced at the Faculty Award Luncheon in April. In the event the Awards Committee determines that none of the nominees meet the high standards for this award, nominees will be called for the following year.

2 WILLIAM L. MAYO PROFESSORSHIP AWARD

2.1 Purpose: The purpose of the William L. Mayo Professorship Award is to provide recognition to an individual who epitomizes the goals of Professor Mayo’s motto: “Ceaseless Industry, Fearless Investigation, Unfettered Thought, and Unselfish Service to Others.” This award will be presented to a person currently at the rank of professor who has performed in an outstanding manner, primarily in teaching, but also in scholarship and service to the university community.

2.2 Award: A William L. Mayo Professor will be selected every third year, unless a meritorious faculty member is not identified. The recipient will be designated as "Mayo Professor" and shall retain the title of "Mayo Professor" for the duration of his/her service at the University, unless he/she is withdrawn by the President for cause. A cash stipend of $2,500 will be awarded each of three years, for a total of $7,500. A special medallion and a plaque, with the seal of the University and Professor Mayo’s motto inscribed on it accompany the award. The William L. Mayo Professorship is the ultimate award granted from A&M-Commerce, and is intended to highlight an exemplary career in teaching, scholarship, and service. In the event that the Awards Committee determines that none of the nominees meet the high standards for this award, nominees will be called for the following year.

2.3 Eligibility: A nominee must electronically submit an application packet addressing each of the following items, which encompass the criteria used to make the selection.

2.3.1 Be a tenured faculty member, with the rank of professor.

2.5 Evaluation Materials: Because the Mayo Professorship is the ultimate award from the University to highlight an exemplary career in teaching, scholarship, and service, the packet assembled for review should offer a distillation of the best of the nominee’s career. Therefore, each selected nominee should submit a portfolio including, but not limited to the following suggested materials. Teaching materials may include: (i) letters from former students; (ii) a narrative covering courses developed, touching upon such areas as philosophy of teaching, course content, teaching methodology, and other appropriate material; (iii) student evaluations from graduate and undergraduate courses (if the nominee teaches at only one level, that fact should be noted); and (iv) letters of support from peers.

2.6 Scholarship: Nominees should include a selection of the best work in research or other creative or scholarly activity. While articles are not required, they may be submitted as representative selections. Books should be summarized, but not included.

2.7 Service: Nominees should give a summary of university, college, and department service activities, stressing activities of particular significance. Nominees are invited to submit any other materials in support of their nominations.

2.8 Special Recognition: The Mayo Professor shall be recognized at a formal university convocation to be held in the fall semester at a date chosen by the Faculty Senate, in consultation with the President of the University. The new Mayo Professor shall serve as the convocation speaker.

2.9 Special Assignment: Because Mayo Professors are identified as being the best instructors in the University, they should be accessible to members of the student body who wish to avail themselves of these professors' courses. Those chosen as Mayo Professors should be required, during the first three years of this designation, to teach at least one introductory or entry level course. A capstone course may be substituted. In cases where such instruction presents an undue hardship, service activities may be substituted.
