Procedure Statement

The institutional procedures for implementing internal searches for assistant and associate deans at Texas A&M University-Commerce (A&M-Commerce) reaffirms the university’s commitment to equal employment opportunity and transparency to all members employed at A&M-Commerce. The employment practices of faculty members in administration at A&M-Commerce shall be in accordance with the provisions of this procedure and are encouraged to develop and maintain programs for building diversity in potential candidate pools.

Reason for Procedure

Texas A&M University-Commerce will provide equal opportunity for employment to all persons regardless of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information or veteran status, and will strive to achieve full and equal employment opportunity throughout the university.

Shared governance cannot exist in the absence of mutual trust. Broad faculty participation in the process will enhance the institution’s reputation, aid in recruiting the best faculty and administrators, promote a positive relationship between the faculty and the university administration, and ensure that all levels of the university function effectively. While the appointment and retention decisions for assistant/associate deans is vested in the college dean with approval from the provost and vice president for academic affairs and should consider the view of other stakeholders, the principle of shared governance in the academy requires that the faculty of the departments in their college play an essential role in the selection of its college assistant and/or associate dean(s).

Although the purpose of this procedure is to define the internal search process for assistant/associate deans, external searches can be conducted at the discretion of the college dean with the approval of the provost and president. In the event of an external search current, faculty are encouraged to apply.

Procedures and Responsibilities

1  GENERAL
1.1 Searches will utilize the Texas A&M University-Commerce Hiring Procedures and Guidelines manual for each search and the committee must meet with a representative from Human Resources prior to the start of the review process.

1.2 If necessary, the dean may appoint an ad-interim assistant/associate dean, for no more than 12 months.

2 VACANCY

2.1 When a vacancy occurs or is imminent, a detailed job description should be reviewed and changes made if necessary. If a job description is not available, one must be created following university procedures in establishing job descriptions. Job descriptions must provide for a definite difference between assistant and associate dean responsibilities. An internal search cannot proceed without a current and relevant job description.

2.2 The dean will invite applications from members of the college’s academic faculty electronically and display an approved job description in a designated area in the vicinity of the dean’s office and Human Resources for the position.

2.3 Application packets will be submitted online similar to external searches. Minimum, criteria required as part of the application packet includes, application, cover letter, curriculum vitae, and official transcripts of graduate work if not already in their personnel file. Other documents can be required as part of the application packet at the discretion of the dean and must be submitted online. Documents not submitted online will not be considered for evaluation.

3 SEARCH COMMITTEE

3.1 The size and precise makeup of the search committee will vary according to circumstances, but a majority of the members shall be faculty members from the college with the balance of the committee broadly representing the college’s constituencies and taking into account diversity in the committee. At a minimum, the dean should establish a committee with at least one representative from each department in the college but no less than five committee members. The dean should identify administrative support to assist in the coordination of the search.

3.2 The search committee shall take into account the rights of the applicant and the Texas Public Information Act, Chapter 552, Texas Government Code. The search committee shall only review the materials submitted in their application packet available for examination.

3.3 If one or more internal candidate is interested after notifying faculty within the college via email of the opportunity and after posting the position for a minimum of 10 days, the ranking of applicants will follow the defined Texas A&M University-Commerce Hiring Procedures and Guidelines manual.

3.4 The search committee shall disclose no other information and anyone involved in the search process should keep all discussions of the committee work, confidential for an indefinite period.
3.5 After the search process has been completed, but before a verbal offer is made, Human Resources will be informed and a recommendation will be made to the dean and provost. Upon provost approval, a verbal offer may be made to the finalist. Once all signatures have been obtained on the Compliance Checklist, the assistant/associate dean will be provided a formal letter of appointment along with a list of responsibilities and duties. Any information that is obtained during the process is subject to disclosure under the Texas Public Information Act.
