Health, Kinesiology, & Sport Studies
Information Guide

The Department of Health and Human Performance at Texas A&M University-Commerce offers a Master’s of Science in Health, Kinesiology, & Sports Studies with concentrations in Athletic Administration, Exercise Science, Health Promotion, and Sport and Recreation Management.

Admission

Graduate School admission requirements include:

- Application and $50 application fee,
- Undergraduate degree from a regionally accredited institution with at least a 2.75 overall GPA,
- Two letters of recommendation attesting to the applicant’s readiness and academic performance,
- One of the following:
  - Official GRE score, completed master’s degree, or minimum of 3.0 overall GPA on first 9 hours of graduate level coursework from A&M-Commerce.

Upon admission to the Graduate School, student applications are reviewed for acceptance into the Health, Kinesiology, and Sport Studies program. Students will then be notified of the admission decision. Students pursuing the concentrations of Exercise Science, Health Promotion, and Sport & Recreation Management will then be provided with an Advising Guide and should proceed with course registration.

Students pursuing the Athletic Administration concentration must complete an additional application requirement upon being submitted to the HKSS program. Students must submit an Admission Interview Video. The interview video should be privately posted to YouTube and the link emailed to AthleticAdministration@tamuc.edu. The video should be no more than 2 minutes in length and applicants should include: 1. a personal introduction statement that includes a brief summary of educational and work history, 2. a statement of purpose for pursuing the Athletic Administration program, and 3. a statement of future career goals.

Admission into the Athletic Administration concentration is competitive; the top 35 students will be accepted. Application deadlines for consideration into Athletic Administration include the following unless deadlines are rolling: July 1 (Fall admission), October 1 (Spring admission), and May 1 (Summer admission).
