Course Description:

This course is all about conducting research. In the writing program at Texas A&M University Commerce, we believe that students learn to do research best by conducting research products of their own design but with some focus and help of their instructors. Therefore, in this class you will conduct ethnographic research projects in which you will “go out into the field” in efforts to learn something about reading and writing in contexts or in its “natural habitat.” You will then become more informed about these findings by comparing what you’ve learned with scholarship conducted by professional researchers and conducting further “library research” to help you create a more informative research report. You’ll finish the semester by presenting your findings in a public forum called The Celebration of Student Writing.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Students who successfully complete ENG 1302 will have:

1. an understanding and ability to make use of primary and secondary sources within a focused, academic argument
2. an awareness of context and how audience and context affect a writer’s rhetorical choices
3. the rhetorical flexibility necessary to negotiate a variety of academic tasks (research, interviews, close reading) leading to a sustained argument that is convincing, informative, and well-researched
4. an awareness of context and how our own subject positions as writers might affect our findings—and how to work through potential biases toward more effective arguments
5. an ability to effectively report research findings in writing (via a well-researched and articulated essay) and in person (via presentations at the end of the semester—in class and at the Celebration of Student Writing)

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional / Methods / Activities Assessments

Grading:

You are encouraged to revise your essays before turning them in as a part of your final portfolio. When I grade your assignments, I will provide suggestions for revision. The Writing Center and your peers can also be excellent resources for such information. Please don't wait until the end of the semester to begin your revisions—you will not have much time to work on them while you are completing your ethnography and preparing for your Celebration of Student Writing presentation.

How Course Grade is Determined:

Writing Assignment 1- Research Framework and Methodology (10%): Using Chapter One from EIIW, explain your theory of the concept of “literacy.” What is literacy? How do you know a “literacy event” when you see it? How will you go about looking for literacy in its “natural habitat” or in context? Think of this essay as the framework you are creating for your study. (3-5 pages)

Writing Assignment 2- Research Proposal (10%): In this short essay, you should explain to your instructor where you're going to do your research, what you will be looking for and at in that research site, and why this site is appropriate for your research. In interest of conducting ethical research, explain your connection to this site (i.e. you eat lunch there often, you know someone who works there, etc.). You should also explain what you anticipate you will learn about literacy in this site. (2-3 pages)

Writing Assignment 3- Informed Consent and Code of Ethics (10%): Using The Belmont Report as a frame work and the Codes of Ethics developed by professional organizations like The Modern Language Association, The American Anthropological Association, The Association of Internet Researchers, or The American Folklore Society, create a Code of Ethics you will follow in your own research. You may also find information in EIIW and FW to assist you with this project. Once you have created your Code of Ethics, you will also need to create an Informed Consent form that your research participants will read and sign. Remember that your research participants are the audience for this text, so you'll want to create an informed consent sheet that makes sense to them but also follows the guidelines and expectations of your instructor. (5-7 pages, including informed consent)

Writing Assignment 4- Ethnographic Setting Essay (10%): In this essay, you will show off your ability to use descriptive language to “paint a picture with words.” Your goal is to describe your research site so thoroughly and completely that readers feel they have been there themselves. This essay will eventually become part of your final ethnographic essay. (4-6 pages)

Interviews, Observation Guide, Informal Writing Assignments, Quizzes and Participation (20%): This category includes in-class writing assignments, informal writing assignments, homework writing assignments, etc.

Celebration of Student Writing (10%): May 3 from 2:00 PM to 4:00 PM in the Field House. The Celebration of Student Writing is an event held every semester where students enrolled in ENG 1302 demonstrate and show-off what they learned in their research projects. You should create some kind of display with artifacts, visual elements, and information about what you learned in your research. The “celebration” will look like a science fair with rows of tables and projects displayed. Your participation in this event is mandatory.

Final Ethnographic Essay (20%): A final essay detailing the results of your study, what your findings mean in relation to the field of literacy studies, etc. Look to chapters four and five in EIIW for what this project should look like. Keep in mind that other essays you've composed this semester including WA1, WA3, WA4, and the annotated bibliography will all be part of this essay. (15-18 pages)

Research Portfolio (10%): In your research portfolio you'll include your ethnography, informed consent forms, informal writing assignments (interviews, observation guide), double sided observation notes, reflexive writing, research artifacts, and anything else that help create an accurate portrayal of the research you conducted this semester. You will also email me the final drafts of WA1, WA 2, WA 3, WA 4 and your ethnography (michelletvete@gmail.com).

Discussion, Reading Responses and Quizzes:

Make sure to complete all reading assignments before class, because we will discuss each reading as a group. I believe knowledge is created through such group collaboration—the unique intersection of all of our perspectives, ideas and experiences. So for our class to be successful, each of you needs to come to class ready to ask your questions and share your insights. On occasion, I will ask you to prepare for our discussion by writing an in-class response at the beginning of class. If I notice that our discussion is not fruitful (due to a lack of preparation), I will give pop quizzes, as well. Since each of you has chosen to become a college scholar, I do not expect this to happen.

Grading Percentages:

10% WA 1
10% WA 2
10% WA 3
10% WA 4
20% Final Ethnography
10% Final Portfolio
10% Presentations—Celebration of Student Writing & Class
20% Participation (discussion and group work), Interviews, Quizzes, & Informal Writing 100%

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

- Flash drive or other means (dropbox.com account, for example) of storing digital versions of the essays and other written material you generate (always, always keep a backup of everything you turn in!)
- A valid, working email address that you check often (everyday)
- Regular internet access (additional readings available online)
- Access to a computer with a word processing program and a printer (assignments must be typed and printed)

ACCESS AND NAVIGATION

Some supplementary texts for this course exist exclusively online, so you must have Internet access to read and/or view these texts.

COMMUNICATION AND SUPPORT

Interaction with Instructor Statement:

Please contact you instructor with any questions you may have. Your instructor's communication preference is e-mail, and her address is: michelletvete@gmail.com . Also, each instructor in the Department of Literature and Languages is required to keep at least three office hours per course per week.

Grievance Procedure:

If you have concerns about the class or about me as an instructor, please speak to me about those concerns. If you are not satisfied with the outcome of our conversation, the next person in the chain of command is the Director of the Writing Program, Dr. Tabetha Adkins. Her e-mail address is Tabetha.Adkins@tamuc.edu.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Procedures:

Writing Center

The Writing Center offers writers free, one-on-one assistance. We welcome all writers, majors, and disciplines—undergraduate and graduate students alike. In fact, we work from the premise that all writers, no matter their ability level, benefit from the feedback of knowledgeable readers. The Writing Center staff is trained to provide writers with just this service. In short, we are here to help you help yourself. In order to ensure the most effective session possible, we offer visitors the following suggestions: (1) Get started on your writing project early, and visit the Writing Center at least one day before your final draft is due. You will need time to work with the ideas and suggestions generated in your tutorial sessions. (2) Bring a written copy of your assignment, any relevant readings, and one or two specific questions or concerns you would like to discuss with us.

We are located in the Hall of Languages, Room 103 (903-886-5280) and online at <http://web.tamu-commerce.edu/academics/colleges/artsSciences/departments/literatureLanguages/writingCenter/>

Attendance Policy

Since our class meets twice a week, you may miss up to four (4) times without penalty.

After the fifth absence, your final grade will drop by one letter. After the seventh absence, the student cannot pass the course.

Three tardies=one absence. Please arrive for our class on time. Coming in late not only means that you are missing important information/discussion and showing disrespect for your professor—it distracts your fellow students who have put in the necessary effort to arrive on time.

The university has no policy for “excused absences” except for university sanctioned events, so please save your absences for illness, court appearances, child care arrangements, and other situations when you must miss class.

Academic Honesty

The official departmental policy: “Instructors in the Department of Literature and Languages do not tolerate plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonestly. Instructors uphold and support the highest academic standards, and students are expected to do likewise. Penalties for students guilty of academic dishonesty include disciplinary probation, suspension, and expulsion. (Texas A&M University-Commerce Code of Student Conduct 5.b [1,2,3])

If you ever have any questions about a particular use of a source, always ask your instructor. They want you to avoid plagiarism, too, so they will help you do so whenever and wherever they can. Do what you can to take advantage of this support—to look innocent in addition to being innocent when it comes to charges of plagiarism.

Students guilty of academic dishonesty of plagiarism can expect to fail the assignment in question or the entire course depending on the nature of the incident.

On University-Sanctioned Activities

To accommodate students who participate in university-sanctioned activities, the First-Year Composition Program offers sections of this course at various times of the day and week. If you think that this course may conflict with a university-sanctioned activity in which you are involved--athletics, etc.--please see your instructor after class on the first day.

University Specific Procedures:

Students with Disabilities

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:

Office of Student Disability Resources and Services
Texas A&M University-Commerce
Gee Library
Room 132
Phone (903) 886-5150 or (903) 886-5835
Fax (903) 468-8148
