COURSE INFORMATION AND REQUIREMENTS

Texts and Other Necessities: No texts required; student and professor will use sources as needed for a project.

University Catalog Description: This course provides a review of the research literature pertinent to the field of mathematics. The student is required to demonstrate competence in research techniques through a literature investigation and formal reporting of a problem. Graded on a (S) satisfactory or (U) unsatisfactory basis. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.

Student Learning Outcomes: Upon completing selected program of study, the student will produce and defend an research paper. If the student does not complete and defend the paper during the Fall 2014 semester, the instructor will assign a grade of "I" and the student will defend the paper in a subsequent semester.

Technology Requirements: The student will need access to the University library's electronic features, as well as to a word processor and printer to prepare the thesis proposal.

Communication: Given the nature of this project, the student has direct and near-unfettered access to the professor as the student completes readings and writes the thesis proposal.

Attendance & Academic Dishonesty: As the course does not meet in a formal and fixed setting, attendance is irrelevant. Although the student might attempt to use plagiarized material, the professor's attentiveness will ensure that cheating and academic dishonesty does not occur. Should the student engage in plagiarism, the professor/advisor may request that the student drop the course and select an alternative topic and advisor.

ADA Statement and Student Behavior

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you believe you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact the Office of Student Disability Resources and Services in the Gee Library Room 132, call (903) 886-5835, or email StudentDisabilityServices@tamuc.edu.

All students enrolled in the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. (See the Student Handbook.)
