Course Description:
MLED 314 is designed to provide preservice teachers with a knowledge base of the changes and issues that typically affect development in the years from age eight through adolescence. Students will examine and study the various domains of physical, cognitive, social and emotional development; and will consider how various learning theories, particularly multiple intelligence theory, can inform practices in middle level classroom. The effect of environmental factors on development will also be explored.

Pedagogy and Professional Responsibilities (PPR) Competencies Addressed:

Competency 001:
The teacher understands human developmental processes and applies this knowledge to plan instruction and ongoing assessment that motivate students and are responsive to their developmental characteristics and needs.

The beginning teacher:
• Recognizes that positive and productive environments for middle-level students involve creating a culture of high academic expectations, equity throughout the learning community, and developmental responsiveness.
• Knows the rationale for appropriate middle-level education and how middle-level schools are structured to address the characteristics and needs of young adolescents.
• Knows the typical stages of cognitive, social, physical, and emotional development of middle-level students.
• Recognizes the wide range of individual developmental differences that characterizes middle-level students and the implications of this developmental variation for instructional planning.
• Demonstrates an understanding of physical changes associated with later childhood and adolescence and ways in which these changes impact development in other domains (i.e., cognitive, social, emotional).
• Recognizes challenges for students during later childhood and early adolescence (e.g., self-image, physical appearance, eating disorders, feelings of rebelliousness) and effective ways to help students address these challenges.
• Understands that student involvement in risky behaviors (e.g., drug and alcohol use, gang involvement) impacts development and learning.
• Demonstrates knowledge of the importance of classmates, peer acceptance, and conformity to peer group norms and expectations for middle-level students, and understands the significance of peer-related issues for teaching and learning.
• Recognizes that social and emotional factors in the family (e.g., parental divorce, homelessness) impact the development of middle-level students in different domains.
• Uses knowledge of cognitive changes in middle-level students (e.g., emergence and refinement of abstract thinking and reasoning, reflective thinking, and increased focus on the world beyond the school setting) to plan instruction and assessment that promote learning and development.
• Analyzes ways in which developmental characteristics of middle-level students impact learning and performance, and applies knowledge of students' developmental characteristics and needs to plan effective learning experiences and assessments.
• Recognizes the importance of helping middle-level students apply decision-making, organizational, and goal-setting skills.
• Understands that development in any one domain (i.e., cognitive, social, physical, emotional) impacts development in other domains.

Competency 002:
The teacher understands student diversity and knows how to plan learning experiences and design assessments that are responsive to differences among students and that promote all students' learning.

The beginning teacher:
• Demonstrates knowledge of students with diverse personal and social characteristics (e.g., those related to ethnicity, gender, language background, exceptionality) and the significance of student diversity for teaching, learning, and assessment.
• Accepts and respects students with diverse backgrounds and needs.
• Knows how to use diversity in the classroom and the community to enrich all students' learning experiences.
• Knows strategies for enhancing one's own understanding of students' diverse backgrounds and needs.

• Knows how to plan and adapt lessons to address students' varied backgrounds, skills, interests, and learning needs, including the needs of English language learners and students with disabilities.
• Understands cultural and socioeconomic differences (including differential access to technology) and knows how to plan instruction that is responsive to cultural and socioeconomic differences among students.
• Understands the instructional significance of varied student learning needs and preferences.

Competency 004:
The teacher understands learning processes and factors that impact student learning and demonstrates this knowledge by planning effective, engaging instruction and appropriate assessments.

The beginning teacher:
• Understands the role of learning theory in the instructional process and uses instructional strategies and appropriate technologies to facilitate student learning (e.g., connecting new information and ideas to prior knowledge, making learning meaningful and relevant to students).
• Understands that the middle-level years are a transitional stage in which students may exhibit characteristics of both older and younger children, and that these are critical years for developing important skills and attitudes (e.g., working and getting along with others, appreciating diversity, making a commitment to continued schooling).
• Applies knowledge of the implications for learning and instruction of middle-level students' wide range of thinking abilities.
• Stimulates reflection, critical thinking, and inquiry among middle-level students (e.g., engages students in structured, hands-on problem-solving activities that are challenging; encourages exploration and risk-taking; creates a learning community that promotes positive contributions, effective communication, and the respectful exchange of ideas).
• Enhances learning for middle-level students by providing instruction that encourages the use and refinement of higher-order thinking skills (e.g., prompting students to explore ideas from diverse perspectives; structuring active learning experiences involving cooperative learning, problem solving, open-ended questioning, and inquiry; promoting students' development of research skills).
• Teaches, models, and monitors organizational and time-management skills at an age-appropriate level (e.g., keeping related materials together, using organizational tools).
• Teaches, models, and monitors age-appropriate study skills (e.g., using graphic organizers, outlining, note-taking, summarizing, test-taking) and structures research projects appropriately (e.g., teaches students the steps in research, establishes checkpoints during research projects, helps students use time management tools).
• Recognizes how social and emotional characteristics of middle-level students (e.g., interacting with classmates, searching for identity, questioning principles and expectations) impact teaching and learning.
• Analyzes ways in which teacher behaviors (e.g., teacher expectations, student grouping practices, teacher-student interactions) impact student learning, and plans instruction and assessment that minimize the effects of negative factors and enhance all students' learning.
• Analyzes ways in which factors in the home and community (e.g., parent expectations, availability of community resources, community problems) impact student learning, and plans instruction and assessment with awareness of social and cultural factors to enhance all students' learning.
• Understands the importance of self-directed learning and plans instruction and assessment that promote students' motivation and their sense of ownership of and responsibility for their own learning.
• Analyzes ways in which various teacher roles (e.g., facilitator, lecturer) and student roles (e.g., active learner, observer, group participant) impact student learning.
• Incorporates students’ different approaches to learning (e.g., auditory, visual, tactile, kinesthetic) into instructional practices.

Competency 005:
The teacher knows how to establish a classroom climate that fosters learning, equity, and excellence and uses this knowledge to create a physical and emotional environment that is safe and productive.

The beginning teacher:
• Uses knowledge of the unique characteristics and needs of middle-level students to establish a positive, productive classroom environment (e.g., provides opportunities to collaborate with classmates, promotes students’ awareness of how their actions and attitudes affect others, and includes kinesthetic experiences and active learning within a planned, structured environment).
• Establishes a classroom climate that emphasizes collaboration and supportive interactions, respect for diversity and individual differences, and active engagement in learning by all students.
• Analyzes ways in which teacher-student interactions and interactions among students impact classroom climate and student learning and development.
• Presents instruction in ways that communicate the teacher’s enthusiasm for learning.
• Uses a variety of means to convey high expectations for all students.
• Knows characteristics of physical spaces that are safe and productive for learning, recognizes the benefits and limitations of various arrangements of furniture in the classroom, and applies strategies for organizing the physical environment to ensure physical accessibility and facilitate learning in various instructional contexts.
• Creates a safe, nurturing, and inclusive classroom environment that addresses students’ emotional needs and respects students’ rights and dignity.

Competency 008:
The teacher provides appropriate instruction that actively engages students in the learning process.

The beginning teacher:
• Employs various instructional techniques (e.g., discussion, inquiry) and varies teacher and student roles in the instructional process, and provides instruction that promotes intellectual involvement and active student engagement and learning.
• Applies various strategies to promote student engagement and learning (e.g., by structuring lessons effectively, using flexible instructional groupings, pacing lessons flexibly in response to student needs, including wait time).
• Presents content to students in ways that are relevant and meaningful and that link with students’ prior knowledge and experience.
• Applies criteria for evaluating the appropriateness of instructional activities, materials, resources, and technologies for students with varied characteristics and needs.
• Engages in continuous monitoring of instructional effectiveness.
• Applies knowledge of different types of motivation (i.e., internal, external) and factors affecting student motivation.
• Employs effective motivational strategies and encourages students’ self-motivation.
Competency 011:
The teacher understands the importance of family involvement in children’s education and knows how to interact and communicate effectively with families.

The beginning teacher:
- Applies knowledge of appropriate ways (including electronic communication) to work and communicate effectively with families in various situations.
- Engages families, parents, guardians, and other legal caregivers in various aspects of the educational program.
- Interacts appropriately with all families, including those that have diverse characteristics, backgrounds, and needs.
- Communicates effectively with families on a regular basis (e.g., to share information about students’ progress) and responds to their concerns.
- Conducts effective conferences with parents, guardians, and other legal caregivers.
- Effectively uses family support resources (e.g., community, interagency) to enhance family involvement in student learning.

Course Objectives:

Students will demonstrate the following outcomes:

✓ Students will understand the basic principles of development and how these principles impact student needs and learning.
✓ Students will recognize the developmental milestones in the major domains of development [cognitive, psycho-motor, social, and emotional], in concert with interactions of English language proficiency stages.
✓ Students will understand connections between adolescent development and the major learning theories.
✓ Students will gain awareness of societal issues currently impacting adolescent development [i.e., peer pressure, gangs, drugs, family structure, media impact, language differences, etc.].
✓ Students will learn to apply knowledge of development in interacting with adolescent students.
✓ Students will be able to apply developmental and language acquisition principles in determining reasonable expectations of the middle level students.
✓ Students will be able to support students in developing positive social relations and in dealing with conflict.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Assignments:
- Introduction About Yourself (Submit in Doc Sharing in eCollege)
- 8 Discussions/Comments (in eCollege)
- Research Paper on Hot Topic (Submit in Dropbox in eCollege)
- Electronic Presentation on Hot Topic (Submit in Dropbox and Doc Sharing)
- Comments/Critique of One Classmate’s Presentation (Submit in Dropbox)
- Dear Abby Assignment and Reflection (Submit in Dropbox in eCollege)
- 10 Quizzes (in eCollege)
- 1 Mid-Term Exam and 1 Final Exam (in eCollege)

MLED 314, Page 5 of 10
All written assignments must be typed in a 12 point font with double spacing and one inch margins on all sides. APA format is required, but no abstract is needed.

Introduction About Yourself: Write an introduction about yourself covering the following areas: background information, relevant personal information pertaining to this class, and expectations of the course. The introduction should be at least 1 page in length. Mine will also be available. Submit in Doc Sharing.

Discussions: 1) Various resources/links will be listed under Discussion in eCollege during certain weeks. Discussion responses need to be at least 3-5 sentences in length, addressing the resource given for that particular week. 2) For every Discussion assignment, you will be responsible for commenting on two of your classmates’ responses. When commenting on your classmates’ responses, also respond with 3-5 sentences.

Research Paper on Hot Topic/ Electronic Presentation on Hot Topic: You will become the class expert on the issue you choose. This assignment will have three parts: 1) A Research Paper turned in to the eCollege Dropbox; 2) An Electronic Presentation of your topic turned into eCollege via both Doc Sharing and Dropbox; and 3) Comments/Critique on one electronic presentation of your classmates. Submit in Dropbox.

1) The Research Paper on Hot Topic is to be 3-5 pages in length. You do not need an abstract page. Please refer to previous instructions on written assignments above. Very important: Be sure to cite sources at the end. This paper should be more than just a regurgitation of facts or an explanation of an argument. All of the opinions stated in the paper should be backed up by an expert. Build upon what you know about the subject and make a deliberate attempt to find out what experts know. Your research paper should analyze a perspective or argue a point. It can be broad and address the entire issue or can focus on one aspect of your topic. Points will be deducted if your name and sources are not included. Submit in Dropbox.

2) The Electronic Presentation on Hot Topic created by you will be available for all to view. You could use Prezi, PowerPoint, or another presentation tool to summarize your topic and research paper. Post any web page link that is needed to access anything on the Internet. Please make sure all electronic presentations include your name. Points will be deducted if your name and sources are not included. Submit in both Doc Sharing and Dropbox.

3) You will also be responsible for Comments/Critique on one electronic presentation from your classmates. You will need to view all of the electronic presentations in Doc Sharing. Then Comment/Critique one of those presentations. Please be sure to reference whose presentation you are critiquing. These Comments/Critiques should reflect your true opinions and should be 5-7 sentences in length. Submit in Dropbox.

Please note that the Doc Sharing tool is for sharing files and collaborating, but only the instructor and you can view your items in Dropbox.
Hot Topics Examples to Choose:
- Media – Radio & TV
- Media – Social networking
- Cell phones (texting, sexting, etc.)

- conduct disorders
- Chronic illness in oneself or family

Dear Abby Assignment and Reflection: Find a “Dear Abby” letter concerning an adolescent scenario. This scenario should deal with problems or issues that adolescents face today, or any topic we have covered in this course. Cite or attach document source [i.e. – newspaper article, internet article, etc.]. Write a short paragraph reflecting your personal discovery or reflection about the scenario. Do you agree with the advice given? Would you have given different advice? Is there any research found in the textbook to support your responses? An example of a link: http://www.kansascity.com/living/advice-columns/. Google “Dear Abby” for others.

GRADING

Points will be earned for assignments completed through eCollege. Examples of assignments will be provided in Doc Sharing toward the due dates so you have guidelines to follow.

ACCESS AND NAVIGATION

ECollege is vital for this class. Assignments, discussions, and quizzes will be completed through eCollege each week. Announcements related to assignments, exams, date changes, or class cancellations will be available through eCollege. To access your eCollege account:

1) Go to www.tamuc.edu
2) Click on the myLeo link at the bottom of the page. This will take you to myLeo.
3) Login to your myLeo account. Your username is your eight digit campus wide identification number. Unless you have changed it, your password is your six digit birth date.
4) There is a Launch Pad on the left-hand side of the screen. To access online courses, click on “eCollege”, then “Go to Classes.”
5) Click the “My Courses” tab in upper left corner.
6) Click on the white arrow next to the words Fall 2014 W1 (August 25-December 12).
7) Click on MLED 314 71W – C. Smith Young Adolescent Development. You are now in the course.
8) Be sure to read the announcements on the homepage every time you log in.
9) You may find it helpful to complete the student orientation tutorial. Simply click on the orientation link on the My Courses page.

Texas A&M University-Commerce offers an online library. To access available materials and databases, go to http://web.tamuc.edu and click on “Current Students” at the top of the page. Then, click on the “Library” in the middle of the page.
