Course Description:

This course is a survey of American history from the colonial era to Reconstruction. It cannot cover the whole of the topic, but it will highlight significant trends in American politics, economics, society, and foreign relations across the period. HIST 1301 should serve as an introduction to many problems still facing Americans today, and as such has relevance for students regardless of their personal interest in the past. From this students will determine and illustrate the role colonialism had in shaping America. Coupled with this pupils will observe the role of the Enlightenment in molding U.S. founding documents and institutions. Students will be able to contrast the cultural, economic and political development of the South from the rest of the nation during this time. Lastly, students will perceive the ways in which slavery divided American society from the time of the colonial era, and was a leading component in the genesis of the Civil War.

Student Learning Outcomes:

1. Critical Thinking. Students will be able to form substantive and evidence-driven arguments to propose or explain phenomena.
2. Communication. Student communication will follow conventions of grammar and syntax appropriate to audience, purpose and message.
3. Social Responsibility. Students will demonstrate awareness of societal and/civic issues.
4. Personal Responsibility. Students will be able to understand their role in their own education.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional/ Methods/ Activities Assessments

Instructional Methods: This class consists primarily of lecture and discussion. Note taking is an essential skill in this class. If you do not take notes, you will not do well. Readings highlight major issues covered in lecture. (Note: Unless a student has a verifiable learning disability, tape recording is strongly discouraged. Recording tends to wear away at a student’s skill at note taking.) Examinations require a synthesis of course readings and material covered in lecture. Writing assignments will allow students to develop written communication skills as well as show mastery of course material.

Assignments: Students must complete all assignments listed below. The descriptions provided are brief, and additional information will be forthcoming.

Student Responsibility Sheet: Every student must complete a Student Responsibility Sheet as part of the Social Responsibility learning outcome. This is a non-graded assignment that is nonetheless essential to pass the course. These must be turned in to me by Friday, February 5. Failure to turn in the sheet will result in failure for this course, and late submissions will not be accepted.

Examinations: Students will complete four examinations worth 50 points each. Each will have twenty multiple-choice questions. Each question is worth one point. In addition students will respond to an essay question worth thirty points. Prior to each exam the instructor will make available to students a review sheet will all terms and concepts to be tested. Exams are based entirely upon lecture and class discussion. Together they are worth 50.0% of your course grade.

Reading Quiz: Edmund Morgan’s The Birth of the Republic: 1763-89 is intended to give you a better understanding of the circumstances that brought thirteen bickering colonies into a single nation. With this students will take a twenty question take home quiz covering Morgan’s work. The quiz will be worth eighty points, and each question will be worth four points apiece. The quiz will count for twenty percent of your course grade.

Attendance and Participation: Roll will be taken daily, and students are expected to attend every class session. Students must sit in assigned seats. Poor attendance tends to result in poor student performance. More than 3 unexcused absences students will lose one letter grade. Excused absences include participation in a University-sponsored event, illness accompanied by a doctor’s note, death in the student’s immediate family, a verifiable court appearance or any other similar circumstance in the view of the instructor. Excuses must be turned in, in writing, to the instructor upon returning to class. As college students, you are expected to do the course readings and to be prepared to participate actively in classroom discussions. You are encouraged to bring your questions to class, and students should listen to each other’s comments and questions with an open mind and to respect viewpoints other than their own. Students must also be open to understanding why people did what they did, and should not dismiss actors’ views because they might be perceived as “wrong.” Attendance and Participation combined will count 120 points total, and will count for thirty percent of your course grade.

Grade Summary

Four Course Exams (50 points apiece) = 200 points

Morgan Quiz = 80 points

Attendance/Participation = 120 points

Grading

A=EXCELLENT 360-400 Points

B=GOOD 320-359 Points

C=AVERAGE 280-319 Points
D=POOR 240-279 Points
F=FAILURE less than 240 Points

COMMUNICATION AND SUPPORT

Interaction with Instructor Statement:

My preferred form of interaction is in person during office hours. I invite you to contact me by e-mail to make an appointment if you cannot come to office hours. I can be reached more easily by e-mail than by phone.

COURSE/UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES/STUDENT CONDUCT

Course Specific Procedures:

Cell Phones and Other Electronic Devices: There was time, believe it or not, that humankind survived without these various electronic apparatuses. Trust me when I say that you can get by without them for three hours a week. If you must have a phone, turn off the ringer and excuse yourself from class if you get a call. Please inform anyone likely to call you that class time is off-limits.

Cheating: Plagiarism, appropriating or otherwise using the work of others, avoiding or aiding others in avoiding class requirements or other activities that contravene ordinary standards of academic integrity will not be tolerated. Students who cheat will be punished by one or more of the following: point penalty, failure of the assignment in question or failure for the course. If you are in doubt about whether or not your conduct constitutes cheating, you had better ask the instructor. Do not find out the hard way. There are no excuses! For further clarification, check out the History Department’s academic integrity policy on the departmental webpage.

Friday: This class meets on Friday. Be here. Period!

Make-Up Work: No make-up work will be accepted late unless it is accompanied by a written excuse considered acceptable by the University. Specifically, this includes participation in a University-sponsored event, illness accompanied by a doctor’s note, death in the student’s immediate family, or a verifiable court appearance.
Slacker Clause: Failure to attempt an assignment will result in failure for the course.
