Required Texts:
Music in the Eighteenth Century by John Rice (W.W. Norton, 2013)
Anthology for Music in the Eighteenth Century, John Rice, Editor (W.W. Norton, 2013)

Course Description:
Styles, forms, and composers from the pre-classic school to the death of Beethoven, with particular emphasis on understanding the music of this period within the social and political context of the Age of Enlightenment.

Student Learning Outcomes:
After successful completion of the course, the student should be able to:
• Aurally identify certain compositions by the major European composers of the Classical Era.
• Describe the compositional styles of the major composers of the Classical Era.
• List significant contributions to the Western musical canon from the major composers of the Classical Era.
• Describe in some detail the major stylistic trends common to the music of 18th-century Europe.
• Provide an overview of the biographies of the major European composers of the Classical Era.

Course Elements:
Examinations will consist of both short answer and essay questions and will be administered during class sessions.

Listening Quizzes will be drawn from the class Listening List, which is based largely on the required Anthology, but may include additional selections. Excerpts of approximately 1-2 minutes in length will be played. A correct answer will include both the name of the composer and the name of the work (both the larger composition and the movement when appropriate). Correct answers should also include the Opus number or date of the composition. It may be possible for quizzes to include multiple examples from the same composition.

Additional Credit for Listening Quizzes may be earned throughout the semester through attendance at major performances of works relevant to this course: examples of such performances include the TAMUC Department of Music performance of Mozart’s Die Zauberflöte, and the upcoming Dallas Symphony performances of Mozart’s Requiem, Mozart’s Piano Concerto No. 19 (with Rudolf Serkin), Beethoven’s Piano Concerto No. 5. To receive this credit, the student will hand in a one-page document detailing the historical origins of the performed work along with a ticket stub.

Each student will give a 20-min Presentation on a topic related to material covered in class and pre-approved by the instructor. The presentation should include visual and/or audio elements. Additional information will be provided during the semester.

Attendance Policy: The University Catalog states, “Students are expected to be present for all class meetings of any course for which they are enrolled.” Sporadic attendance is a waste of your intellectual and financial resources. Regular attendance, while always important, is particularly so in a course which meets only once a week. Unless they are the result of a medical or family emergency, excused absences (as defined by the Catalog) need to be arranged beforehand with the instructor. If an absence results in a missed examination there will be no make-up scheduled.

Cell Phone/Laptop Policy: During class all cell phones should be turned off or silenced. Accepting a call, reading a text message, or responding to a text message during class is rude to both your instructor and your classmates. As a graduate class with small enrollment, laptops may be helpful for note-taking and listening. However, unless there is an obvious reason to be using one they should not be left open during class.
The following statements are required by either University policy, state, or federal law:
