Drugs and Drug Policy: The Control of Consciousness Alteration by Clayton J. Mosher and Scott Akins (2014) Sage Publications: ISBN 978-1-4522-4239-2

Optional

I assigned Darryl Inaba's "Uppers, Downers, and All-Arounders" for those of you who may want a supplemental book "on drugs". If you are not a drug user or do not have contact with drug users on a regular basis this book is helpful in explaining contemporary drug use as well as drug pharmacology. There are several editions of this book in print and you may choose to buy an earlier edition at a much reduced cost.

Course Description: Program Outcome

Our focus is the social reality of drug use, and drug users, within contemporary society. This focus includes a historical analysis of the social construction of drug use, drug users, abuse, and addiction. We will be investigating the complex relationships between individual and group behavior, and social structure. Central concepts such as social learning, labeling, power, and inequality; as well as socio-cultural definitions of drugs, behavior, and the people who use drugs will be the tools of our analysis. Special attention will be given to the complex legal history surrounding drug use, the link between drugs and crime, the impact of the medicalization of human behavior, and varying perspectives on "doing something about drugs."

The basic objective of this course is to provide a comprehensive survey of the development of sociological theories and analyses of drug use, focusing on images of drug use and the drug user as social constructs rather than as an intrinsically pathological behavior or identity. An additional objective of this course is to survey the current information and research on selected categories of drugs and the socially constructed reality that surrounds their use in contemporary society in order to understand a) the socio-cultural based definitions of drugs and b) the individual, group, and social structural dimensions of drug using behavior. This will include an analysis of the implications of these definitions and relationships for social policy and social control (legislation, prevention and treatment). These issues will be analyzed within the shifting legal and medical definitions that permeate the discussion of drug use in modern society.

Read the syllabus and take note of important dates. When you are done proceed to the introductory post which you can find under week one on the left of your course shell.

Student Learning Outcomes

At the end of the course students will be able to:

1. Describe and analyze the history of drug problems and social theories of drug use.
2. Identify and explain the patterns of legal and illegal drug use.
3. Identify, compare, and analyze policies regulating illegal and legal drugs.

Instructional/Methods/Activities Assessments

Introduction/Discussion Posts: (1 Introduction @ 50 points; 4 discussion posts @ 50 points each = 250 course points)

Student Learning Outcomes #1-#3: Describe and analyze the history of drug problems and social theories of drug use; Identify and explain the patterns of legal and illegal drug use; Identify, compare, and analyze policies regulating illegal and legal drugs. Course

Requirements

The Introduction is a chance for you to 'meet' your colleagues (although most of you likely know each other by now) in the class and an opportunity to introduce yourself to your professor. You will also be required to answer a course-related question. Specific instructions on what to post are available when you click on Introduction in Week #1. The Introductory post is due on Wednesday of Week #1 of the course.

The Discussions are directly related to the work you are doing on your capstone project. Each post will require that you present to the other students in the class, your thoughts/concerns/problems/issues on specific topics related to your project. You are expected to engage in an ongoing discussion with your classmates, providing assistance and guidance when possible. Your contributions to the discussion forums will be graded for quality and insightful thought/assistance that you provide to your colleagues. Specific discussion post topics are located in eCollege.

These posts should be a minimum of 250 words. The specific discussion assignment is located in each unit Week by clicking on the Discussion link. Posts are due by 11:00PM CST on Fridays.

Comment Posts: (20 comments @ 10 points each = 200 course points)

Student Learning Outcomes #1-#3: Describe and analyze the history of drug problems and social theories of drug use; Identify and explain the patterns of legal and illegal drug use; Identify, compare, and analyze policies regulating illegal and legal drugs.

Course Requirements

Comment posts are responses you make to the discussion posts that you and your classmates post each week. You are required to make a minimum of five comments each week. I would strongly encourage you to engage your colleagues well past the five-comment minimum in order to maximize your opportunity for meaningful discussion and learning.

Comment posts should be meaningful. Merely agreeing or disagreeing with a classmate will not be looked upon favorably and will result in a loss of points. A meaningful post is one that moves the discussion forward in some substantive way through providing one's perspective, additional information through research, or reframing the discussion in some new way. You are expected to engage in an ongoing discussion with your classmates. Your comments will be graded for quality, and relevance and the degree to which you offer useful and relevant suggestions to your colleagues. Your comments will also be graded based on your ability to engage in critical thinking.

All comment posts are due by 11:00PM CST on Sundays.

Assessment Method: Comments will be graded using the Comments Grading Rubric attached to the Discussion Post Grading Rubric. The discussion and Comments for each week will be graded together and posted as one grade (Discussion = 50 + Comments 5@ 10 points each = 100 points/week).

Review of Articles Project (350 points):

Student Learning Outcomes #1-#3: Describe and analyze the history of drug problems and social theories of drug use; Identify and explain the patterns of legal and illegal drug use; Identify, compare, and analyze policies regulating illegal and legal drugs.

Quizzes (2@100 points):

Student Learning Outcomes #1-#3: Describe and analyze the history of drug problems and social theories of drug use; Identify and explain the patterns of legal and illegal drug use; Identify, compare, and analyze policies regulating illegal and legal drugs.

You will read four articles [insert link] which are available in doc sharing. These articles are from professional journals and a Newspaper; they span almost one hundred years. While all of the articles address different topics, they do have one common trend. These articles demonstrate the social reality of drug use and the construction of that reality through time. The goal of this project is for you to think critically about the seemingly endless crusade to tackle ever-expanding problems related to drug use and abuse.

Your review should be written as a professional paper and be a minimum of 15 pages in length. You should cite the sources provided to you and at least six other sources that you retrieve on your own. Your review should include:

- a. A brief summary of the articles and other literature written as a synthesis of the information presented.
- b. A thorough assessment of the information presented that includes what you found accurate and valid as well as what sounds suspect to you.
- c. A proposal on how drug problems should be dealt with on the social level. You can choose any strategy you like as long as it is reasonable and backed up by research literature.

- d. A conclusion that includes future direction for dealing with drug problems and future directions for research. You may be as creative in this area as you would like.

Assessment Method: Students will be graded on their Review of Articles Project using the Review of Articles Project Rubric

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Procedures

Academic Honesty

I take plagiarism and other forms of cheating very seriously. All the work you do in this course is to be your own. I encourage you to study with friends, but be sure that everything you turn in is your own, original work. Regarding references, anytime you use someone else's work and do not accompany it with a proper citation to the author, you have committed plagiarism regardless of whether or not you intended to do so. It is also inappropriate to use your own work for multiple classes and any such actions will be treated just like plagiarism. Do not copy anything off the internet, out of books/articles, from friends, or from any other source or person. This includes direct cutting-and-pasting, summarizing or quoting without citing, and changing the original wording just enough so that you think you can pass it off as your own. If I find that you have engaged in plagiarism, you will receive an F in the entire course and I reserve the right to take further disciplinary action(s) at the university level. Do Not Do It!

Students who violate University rules on scholastic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary penalties, including (but not limited to) receiving a failing grade on the assignment, the possibility of failure in the course and dismissal from the University. Since dishonesty harms the individual, all students, and the integrity of the University, policies on scholastic dishonesty will be strictly enforced. In ALL instances, incidents of academic dishonesty will be reported to the Department Head. Please be aware that academic dishonesty includes (but is not limited to) cheating, plagiarism, and collusion.

Cheating is defined as:

- Copying another's test or assignment
- Communication with another during an exam or assignment (i.e. written, oral or otherwise)
- Giving or seeking aid from another when not permitted by the instructor
- Possessing or using unauthorized materials during the test
- Buying, using, stealing, transporting, or soliciting a test, draft of a test, or answer key

Plagiarism is defined as:

- Using someone else's work in your assignment without appropriate acknowledgement
- Making slight variations in the language and then failing to give credit to the source

Collusion is defined as:

- Collaborating with another, without authorization, when preparing an assignment

If you have any questions regarding academic dishonesty, ask. Otherwise, I will assume that you have full knowledge of the academic dishonesty policy and agree to the conditions as set forth in this syllabus.

Attendance Policy

While this is an online course, students are expected to 'attend class' and actively participate. Student participation/activity will be monitored by the professor. Students should plan to dedicate approximately 15-20 hours/week of time to this course, of which approximately 1 hour/week should be spent in the discussion board (reading posts and comments and conversing with others).

APA Citation Format Policy

It is very important that you learn how to cite properly. In some ways, citations are more important than the actual text of your paper/assignment. Therefore, you should take this task seriously and devote some time to understanding how to cite properly. If you take the time to understand this process up front, it will save you a significant amount of time in the long run (not to mention significant deductions in points).

In the social and behavioral sciences (including Criminal Justice), we use APA (American Psychological Association) format. As a rule of thumb, one cites whenever they are paraphrasing other people's words or when they quote other's words directly. You may learn to cite from a variety of different sources including the APA Tutorial and the sources listed below. Go to the following links:

www.apastyle.org

<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/02/>

www.library.cornell.edu/resrch/citmanage/apa

It is the student's responsibility to understand how to cite properly. If you have questions, feel free to ask.

Late Work

In principle, I do not accept late work and do not believe in allowing students to turn in work after the due date. My position is that everyone knows the rules of engagement at the beginning of the term and that it is the student's responsibility to ensure that they plan accordingly to submit their assignments in a timely manner. However, I also do understand that sometimes there are circumstances outside one's control that may impact timely submission of assignments. To that end, I have developed a policy on late work.

Due to the condensed nature of this course, make up opportunities are very limited. Obviously, missed attendance cannot be made up at a later date. Late papers will lose one letter grade for each day they are late. Plan accordingly.

Drop Course Policy

Students should take responsibility for dropping themselves from the course according to University policy should this become necessary.
