Without the correct subject line and student identification, Email Spam filters used by TAMU-C will place your message in a junk Email folder where your message will be automatically deleted. Remember to professionally compose your Email messages with proper grammar and spelling and by using a professional tone toward your instructor.

Properly addressed and signed Emails will be replied to within 24 to 48 hours Monday-Friday. If a face-to-face conference is needed between the student and instructor in the instructor’s office, an appointment must be made several days in advance by the student.

Attendance & Participation:
No attendance policy will be imposed for this online course. However, students will need to complete all assignments and course requirements consistent with the assignment schedule. Excused absences will not generate extra time for meeting deadlines and scheduled events. Students will be expected to participate consistent with course objectives and goals.

It is the student’s responsibility to:
- Stay active in the course by logging into the course on a regular daily basis.

These announcements are placed in your course to help you so please take the time to read and understand each announcement. These announcements are time sensitive so they will only be available for a limited period of time.
- Learn to proficiently use the eCollege system.

Late Assignments
Assignments are due on specific dates, as assigned. Assignments will not be accepted after the due date.

Every student has the right to drop the course without penalty until the drop-date. Students dropping the course during this period will be given a ‘Q’.

If you choose to stop attending class, you may be dropped from the course due to excessive absences. If you are not satisfied with your grade in the course and wish you to drop, it is YOUR responsibility to drop the course.
A student may drop a course by logging into their myLEO account and clicking on the hyperlink labeled 'Drop a class' from among the choices found under the myLEO section of the Web page.

Student Conduct

All students are expected to conduct themselves in a professional manner at all times. You are adults and will be treated as such. Discriminatory, rude, and inappropriate language will not be tolerated in this class and students will be asked to leave or drop the class (these same rules apply for online discussions). If a student continues to act in the same manner during future classes, the instructor reserves the right to drop the student from the course.

Academic Integrity

If you are to excel in this course, the need for collaboration is undeniable, even in cases of individual work. There is a fine line in this process. You are encouraged to seek the help and advice of others. However, you must do your own work. Please ask me if you have questions about what is proper and what is not.

Intellectual Ownership:

When reviewing the literature, one frequently peruses written thoughts, findings, conclusions, and perspectives of individuals and organizations that may be used to create credibility and/or rationale from investigative studies. A problem, however, is how to capitalize on such information, yet not violate the principles of intellectual ownership. One solution involves answering two questions: (1) what is plagiarism? (2) How is plagiarism avoided? Simply stated, plagiarism is claiming another person’s or organization’s works as one’s own. Such violations may be avoided by knowing how to use and acknowledge the works of others. The 6th Edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association states: “Authors do not present the work of another as if it were their own work” (p. 16). “Whether paraphrasing, quoting an author directly, or describing an idea that influenced your work, you must credit the source” (p.170). Quotation marks should be used to indicate the exact words of another. Each time you paraphrase another author (i.e., summarize a passage or rearrange the order of a sentence and change some of the words), you will need to cite it in the text.

Some people seem to believe that anything found on the Internet is free to use as they please. The "cut and paste" option also makes it easy to plagiarize. However, information on the web must be properly cited just as you would any "hard copy" periodicals. In this course, APA style citation is expected. Any written assignments must include in text citations as well as a separate reference page. The following web site provides valuable insight relating to what constitutes plagiarism and how it may be avoided: http://www.indiana.edu/~wts/pamphlets/plagiarism.shtml.

To avoid plagiarism an individual must give credit wherever he or she uses:

- another individual’s idea, opinion, or theory
- facts, statistics, graphs, and drawings that are not common knowledge
- quotations of another individual’s spoken or written words
- paraphrase another individual’s spoken or written words

Any deviation from the guidelines concerning quotes and citations constitutes plagiarism, as it suggests that you are trying to submit someone else’s work and creativity as your own. In accordance with the Texas A&M University-Commerce Code of Student Conduct Section 5.b [1, 2, 3], the penalties for students guilty of academic dishonesty include disciplinary probation, suspension, and expulsion. If you have any questions, please let me know.

Acts of plagiarism will result in writing assignments and research projects assigned a grade of ‘0’ for the first offense. Upon the second offense, student will be referred to the Dean of Student Services and will receive a grade of ‘F’ for the course with possible removal from the program and university. TAMU-C has purchased a license for TurnItIn.com which checks for plagiarism. All submitted course requirements may be submitted to this service. If the report generated notes that your work is plagiarized, you will receive an ‘F’ for that course requirement and course.
