Prerequisite: Doctoral status.

GENERAL COURSE INFORMATION
As a requirement in the doctoral program, this course surveys a variety of research tools and techniques pertinent to conducting research in general, and the dissertation in particular. COURSE OBJECTIVES include, but are not limited to, the following.
Beyond entry-level requirements, the student will demonstrate understanding of:
1. Design and implementation of quantitative research and methodology
2. Design and implementation of qualitative research
3. Ethical and legal considerations related to research
4. Purpose and benefits of research
5. Study and application of scientific writing skills
6. APA style
7. Evaluation of research, research methods, and literature pertinent to the counseling field and profession
8. Familiarity with dissertation and research process
9. Identification of differences in dissertation writing and counseling research

CONTENT AREAS include, but are not limited to, the following:
I. Data screening procedures
   A. Central Tendency

C. Appropriateness of statistical procedures
D. Type I and Type II error
E. Power
F. Transfer and Generalizability

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION
Lecture, discussion, guided practice, seminar

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Dissertation Review. (10 pages). Locate a dissertation relevant to your research area of interest and in a paragraph describe why you selected it. Summarize the contents of each chapter, including major subsections. I should know what the dissertation is about after reading your review. React to strengths and weaknesses of the dissertation. The checklists at the end of the following chapters in the Heppner and Heppner text (3,6,7,12,14) will provide guidelines for your review. You will turn in the dissertation along with your review (The dissertation may be turned in as a PDF electronic file or as a paper copy).

Dissertation Prospectus. You will write a 2-3 page prospectus in which you briefly describe your proposed dissertation study. The prospectus answers the questions: Why, what and how? It includes: 1) a working title, 2) introductory paragraphs that refer to the literature and identify the gap the dissertation will address (why?), 3) a brief methodology section (What are the questions, and how will you answer them?), and contributions to the profession. Samples will be provided as a guide.

Dissertation Proposal Draft. During this semester you will write and revise the first draft of your dissertation proposal. Samples will be provided as a guide.

Prior to turning in each chapter for a grade, you will have a classmate edit it. Once your revision is complete, you will turn in a hard copy and an electronic copy of each chapter (along with an electronic copy of your classmate’s editorial suggestions) on the due date listed in the syllabus:

Chapter 1
- State the problem, introduce the study
- Ask the research questions or state the hypotheses
- Make the case that the study is important and needs to be conducted
- Include assumptions, delimitations, and definitions
- Have this chapter edited by one of your classmates

Chapter 2
- Write a preliminary review of the literature for your study
- Include headings, subheadings, and assertions—statements with a supporting reference Use at least 20 references
Address relevant theory and previous studies
Link your study with theory and past research
Have this chapter edited by one of your classmates

Chapter 3
Describe your methods in enough detail that the study could be replicated Include sample, measures, procedures, and analysis plan where appropriate Address issues of reliability, validity, and trustworthiness as appropriate
Be sure that the data you collect will answer the research questions from chapter 1
Have this chapter edited by one of your classmates

Presentation. At the end of the semester you will give a 20-minute professional presentation to the class describing your proposed study: statement of the problem and purpose of the study, literature review, and methods. You will have the opportunity to view a videotaped sample presentation.

Attendance and Participation. Regular attendance is expected. Your participation in the class involves preparation for and involvement in class discussions, and feedback for colleagues. You will edit chapters for a classmate and return your editorial comments in a timely manner. You will have a classmate edit your chapters. Be sure to get a copy to your editor early enough that you can turn in the revised chapter on the due date listed in the syllabus.

4. content: a demonstrated awareness of the of the knowledge base in the area of study Written assignments are due on the day noted in the syllabus. All papers are due at the beginning of the class period. Late papers will have 10% deducted from the final score.
