COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional / Methods / Activities Assessments

Grading:

You are encouraged to revise your essays before turning them in as a part of your final portfolio. When I grade your assignments, I will provide suggestions for revision. The Writing Center and your peers can also be excellent resources for such information. Please don’t wait until the end of the semester to begin your revisions—you will not have much time to work on them while you are completing your ethnography and preparing for your Celebration of Student Writing presentation.

All assignments are due on their respective due dates by 11:59pm in the dropbox that has been assigned to them. All assignments must be turned in as .doc or .docx files, unless otherwise stated. Late work is not accepted in this course unless you have contacted the instructor and worked out other arrangements.

How Course Grade is Determined:

Writing Assignment 1- Research Framework and Methodology (10%): Using Chapter One from EIIW, explain your theory of the concept of “literacy.” What is literacy? How do you know a “literacy event” when you see it? How will you go about looking for literacy in its “natural habitat” or in context? Think of this essay as the framework you are creating for your study. (3-5 pages)

Writing Assignment 2- Research Proposal (10%): In this short essay, you should explain to your instructor where you’re going to do your research, what you will be looking for and at in that research site, and why this site is appropriate for your research. In interest of conducting ethical research, explain your connection to this site (i.e. you eat lunch there often, you know someone who works there, etc.). You should also explain what you anticipate you will learn about literacy in this site. (2-3 pages)

Writing Assignment 3- Informed Consent and Code of Ethics (10%): Using The Belmont Report as a frame work and the Codes of Ethics developed by professional organizations like The Modern Language Association, The American Anthropological Association, The Association of Internet Researchers, or The American Folklore Society, create a Code of Ethics you will follow in your own research. You may also find information in EIIW and FW to assist you with this project. Once you have created your Code of Ethics, you will also need to create an Informed Consent form that your research participants will read and sign. Remember that your research participants are the audience for this text, so you’ll want to create an informed consent sheet that makes sense to them but also follows the guidelines and expectations of your instructor. (4-6 pages)

Writing Assignment 4- Ethnographic Setting Essay (10%): In this photo essay, you will show off your ability to use descriptive language to “paint a picture with words” as well as provide images to describe your research site so thoroughly and completely that readers feel they have been there themselves. This essay will eventually become part of your final ethnographic essay. (5-7 pages)

Online Progress Portfolio (30%): This category includes three different sections.
- Tweeting Responses (10%) - 140-character summaries or responses to each of your required readings.
- Progress Blog (10%) - Ten blog posts of 200 words or more over the course of the semester which discuss your readings, your research, your interviews, and/or other points of interest for the course.
- Field Notes (10%) – Collected and commented upon using your Tumblr blog. See associated handout for more information.

Final Ethnographic Essay (20%): A final essay detailing the results of your study, what your findings mean in relation to the field of literacy studies, etc. Look to chapters four and five in EIIW for what this project should look like. Keep in mind that other essays you’ve composed this semester including WA1, WA3, WA4, and the annotated bibliography will all be part of this essay. (length suggestion: 15-18 pages)

Research & Final Portfolio (10%): Your final portfolio is the culmination of a semester’s hard work. You’ll collect all of your assignments, online work, and your final paper and display these things in a readable online portfolio environment via Tumblr. In your Research Portfolio you’ll include your drafts from the semester, informed consent forms, Tweeting Responses, links to Field Notes, your progress blog, research artifacts, and anything else that helps create an accurate portrayal of the research you conducted this semester.

Grading Percentages:
10% WA 1
10% WA 2
10% WA 3
10% WA 4
20% Final Ethnography
10% Final Portfolio
30% Progress Portfolio
100%

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Procedures:

Writing Center

The Writing Center offers writers free, one-on-one assistance. We welcome all writers, majors, and disciplines—undergraduate and graduate students alike. In fact, we work from the premise that all writers, no matter their ability level, benefit from the feedback of knowledgeable readers. The Writing Center staff is trained to provide writers with just this service. In short, we are here to help you help yourself. In order to ensure the most effective session possible, we offer visitors the following suggestions: (1) Get started on your writing project early, and visit the Writing Center at least one day before your final draft is due. You will need time to work with the ideas and suggestions generated in your tutorial sessions. (2) Bring a written copy of your assignment, any relevant readings, and one or two specific questions or concerns you would like to discuss with us.

The Writing Center is located in the Hall of Languages, Room 103 (903-886-5280) and online at http://web.tamuc.edu/academics/colleges/humanitiesSocialSciencesArts/departments/literatureLanguages/writingCenter/default.aspx

Attendance Policy

This is an online course, so there is no real “attendance.” Either you do the work, or you don’t. If you fail to complete any of the work for any single unit, it will result in an automatic failure of the course. If you have a family emergency, contact me as soon as possible in order to make arrangements.

Academic Honesty

The official departmental policy: “Instructors in the Department of Literature and Languages do not tolerate plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty. Instructors uphold and support the highest academic standards, and students are expected to do likewise. Penalties for students guilty of academic dishonesty include disciplinary probation, suspension, and expulsion. (Texas A&M University-Commerce Code of Student Conduct 5.b [1,2,3])

If you ever have any questions about a particular use of a source, always ask your instructor. They want you to avoid plagiarism, too, so they will help you do so whenever and wherever they can. Do what you can to take advantage of this support—to look innocent in addition to being innocent when it comes to charges of plagiarism.

Students guilty of academic dishonesty of plagiarism can expect to fail the assignment in question or the entire course depending on the nature of the incident.

On University-Sanctioned Activities

To accommodate students who participate in university-sanctioned activities, the First-Year Composition Program offers sections of this course at various times of the day and week. If you think that this course may conflict with a university-sanctioned activity in which you are involved—athletics, etc.—please e-mail me as soon as possible.

University Specific Procedures:

Students with Disabilities

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:

Office of Student Disability Resources and Services
Texas A&M University-Commerce
Gee Library 132
Phone (903) 886-5150 or (903) 886-5835
