Course: BA 301 - The Legal Environment of Business

Time & Location: Monday, Wednesday & Friday: 8:00 am to 8:50 am in BA-346 (live section) / Web Enhanced - Online 24 – 7 for online sections.

Instructor: M.J. “Mick” Trusty, JD, CTFA

Office and hours: Adjunct Professor, by appointment only – call mobile phone or the 1st listed email below to set an appointment (I do not regularly check my University email)

Telephone: 214.244.1969 (Mobile)

E-mail: mjtrusty_attorney@msn.com OR Mick.Trusty@tamuc.edu

A. COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course is a study of the legal environment of business including elements of; (i) tort and contract law, (ii) product liability, (iii) employment law and discrimination, (iv) consumer law, (v) the basics of the legal system, (vi) professional ethic, plus (vii) some limited foreign and international law.

B. COURSE MISSION:

1. To provide an overview of the basics of the legal system, both nationally and internationally.
2. To develop skills in working with legal materials and understanding the language of the law.
3. To provide a general understanding of the major legal issues which impact the business environment, both nationally and internationally.
4. To provide knowledge of specific elements of law which impact business entity structures and finance matters.

C. EXPECTED STUDENT COMPETENCIES TO BE ACHIEVED IN THIS COURSE:

These are set out in the following statements:

- a. Demonstrate knowledge of the legal environment of business by an understanding of; (i) the role, nature and sources of law, (ii) the courts and alternatives for dispute resolution, (iii) international law, and (iv) the different aspects of civil law and criminal law.
- b. Demonstrate an understanding of; (i) federal and state regulatory laws affecting business (including but not limited to administrative law), (ii) the commerce clause of the U.S. Constitution, (iii) intellectual property laws, (iv) consumer protection laws, (v) employment laws, (vi) environmental laws, (vii) business competition laws, and (viii) discrimination laws.
- c. Demonstrate an understanding of; (i) the elements of contracts, (ii) breach of performance and remedies, plus (iii) E-Commerce issues.
- d. Demonstrate the ability to; (i) define tort law, (ii) understand common torts, plus (iii) explain liabilities and remedies for the breach thereof.
- e. Demonstrate the process of legal research and preparing a case brief.

Student understanding of the foregoing concepts will be tested throughout the course, viz.:

a. Demonstrate knowledge of the legal environment of business by an understanding of; (i) the role, nature and sources of law, (ii) the courts and alternatives for dispute resolution, (iii) international law, and (iv) the different aspects of civil law and criminal law.

1. Define and understand the major legal philosophies that have influenced the legal system in the United States.
2. Define and understand the doctrine of stare decisis.
3. Understand basic ethical systems, how each differs, and how each may impact the law.
4. Understand the process of negotiation, mediation and arbitration.
5. Compare and contrast the function of trial courts and appellate courts.
6. Define and understand the doctrine of sovereign immunity.
7. Define and understand the most common risks of criminal liability faced by those in the business world.

b. Demonstrate an understanding of; (i) federal and state regulatory laws affecting business (including but not limited to administrative law), (ii) the commerce clause of the U. S. Constitution, (iii) intellectual property laws, (iv) consumer protection laws, (v) employment laws, (vi) environmental laws, (vii) business competition laws; and (viii) discrimination laws.

1. Explain the federal government's authority to regulate interstate commerce.
2. Understand the major laws that protect employees in the workplace.
3. Know the protected categories under Title VII (Civil Rights of 1964) as amended.
4. Understand the types of sexual harassment and how an organization will be in compliance within the law.
5. Know an organization's obligations to the disabled under the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), 42 U.S.C. §§ 12101-12213 (2000).
6. Be able to name and explain the three (3) unfair and deceptive practices that violate Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (FTC Act), Ch. 311, §5, 38 Stat. 719, codified at 15 U.S.C. §45(a).

c. Demonstrate an understanding of; (i) the elements of contracts, (ii) breach of performance and remedies, plus (iii) E-Commerce issues.

1. Understand and explain the four (4) essential elements in order for a contract to be enforceable.
2. Understand and explain the differences among compensatory, consequential, punitive and nominal damages.

d. Demonstrate the ability to; (i) define tort law, (ii) understand common torts, plus (iii) explain liabilities and remedies for the breach thereof.

1. Understand and explain the essential factors necessary for a valid negligence claim.
2. Name and describe the two (2) types of defamation.
3. Understand and explain the concept and practice of strict liability

e. Student understanding of the process of legal research and preparing a case brief will be assessed by the case brief assignment.

D. COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

1. Readings as assigned. NOTE: It is always recommended that students outline the reading material as a study guide, particularly if one is planning on attending law school in the future. This is a valuable skill to have in that learning environment.
2. Chapter quizzes (20% of grade)
3. Three (3) examinations and a final examination (50% of grade). The final examination will not be comprehensive. Only under very special exceptions will make-up examinations be allowed. Examinations will be graded on the following scale. 90-100=A; 80-89=B; 70-79=C; 60-69=D; Below 60=F.
4. One written case brief (20% of grade) is due on or before November 25th. You will be provided instructions (via email to you at the appropriate time) on how to write a brief. Cases will be found on the second floor of the library, in the Southwestern Reports, the Federal Supplement, and the Federal Reports. Cases may also be found under the Westlaw or Lexis-Nexis databases for the library. Cases will be provided by the professor should one submit an email request. Students must report on different cases. The brief should be neatly typed. This course is designed to train students in the skill of critical “legal” thinking. My best example of how lawyers think is a true story. I was at a social event. Four or five individuals (not attorneys) were discussing a legal matter. They turned to me and asked “how would you argue that counselor?” My response was “what side am I on?” The group was surprised; but a maxim we are taught in law school is “when the facts are against you argue the law and when the law is against you argue the facts”. As such, it is imperative that one does all her or his reading (particularly the cases), quizzes and discussion postings. Jumping ahead will likely cause students to be frustrated by the legal based analytical process. The study of law is unlike any other college courses. It is what I call a “building process”. At the outset of the course a student cannot prepare a proper case brief as it takes time to grasp the study process for legal matters. Further instructions on the process will be forthcoming. Though a student may request a particular case early on, the case brief should not be attempted until after exam 2. Please refer to the Grading Rubric in eCollege for further elucidation.
5. Class participation is required (10% of grade). Each student is required to make at least one thoughtful post for each required chapter of study along with three (3) postings in challenge or support of the postings of other students or in rebuttal or defense of your own. Posts for readings associated with text chapters are required no later than the end of the week during which the chapter is assigned. This is the class participation component of the grade. Again, refer to the Grading Rubric for discussions in eCollege for further elucidation. As a general guideline, a student's grade on this portion will be a function of the quality, quantity, timeliness and consistency of your posts (including your original posts and your replies to other posts) on the bulletin board. Please note the deadline for bulletin board participation in the daily schedule. Please also note that heavy activity during the last few days cannot compensate for a lack of participation during the term. Plan to participate throughout the course.

PLEASE NOTE: Requests from students with disabilities for reasonable accommodations must go through the Academic Support Committee. For more information, please contact the office of Advisement Services, BA 314, (903)886-5133.

All students enrolled at our University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment (see Student’s Guide Book, Policies and Procedures, conduct).

Texas A&M University-Commerce
College of Business
Academic Honesty Policy

Statement of Ethical and Professional Conduct:

The College of Business at Texas A&M University-Commerce faculty, staff and students will follow the highest level of ethical and professional behavior. We will strive to be recognized as a community with legal, ethical and moral principles and to teach and practice professionalism in all that we do.

In an academic environment we will endeavor to not only teach these values but also to live them in our daily lives and work. Faculty and staff will be held to the same standards and expectations as our students.

Failure to abide by these principles will result in sanctions up to and including dismissal.

Actionable Conduct:

There are five (5) different types of actions that will bring sanction. They are:

1. Illegal activity: Violation of any local, state or federal laws that prohibit the offender from performance of his or her duty.
2. Dishonest Conduct: Seeking or obtaining unfair advantage by stealing or receiving copies of tests or intentionally preventing others from completing their work. In addition falsifying of records to enter or complete a program will also be considered dishonest conduct.
3. Cheating: The unauthorized use of another's work and reporting it as your own.
4. Plagiarism: Using someone else's ideas and not giving proper credit.
5. Collusion: Acting with others to perpetrate any of the above actions regardless of personal gain.

Sanctions:

In the case of staff or faculty, the immediate supervisor will be the arbiter of actionable behavior and will use Texas A&M University-Commerce and/or Texas A&M University System Policy and Procedures as appropriate to guide sanctions.

Faculty, guided by clearly delineated policy in the course syllabus, will be the arbiter for in-class violations. All violations will be reported to the Dean of the College of Business to assure equity and to provide appropriate counsel. In addition, the Dean will maintain records of violations by students. Second violations will be reviewed by the Dean and sanctions beyond those of the faculty up to and including suspension and permanent expulsion from Texas A&M University-Commerce will be considered. Faculty and students are guided by the current undergraduate and graduate catalogs of the University as well as The Student's Guidebook.

Faculty, staff and students will always be afforded due process and review as appropriate.

Student Appeal of Course Grade

13.99.99. R0.05 Student's Appeal of Instructor's Evaluation Effective September 1, 1996
Revised December 15, 1999 Revised February 8, 2007 Supplements System Policy 13.02

1. The final grades awarded by faculty members are their expert judgment concerning student performance. Students challenging a final grade must show that the instructor's judgment was unfair based on: a) some basis other than performance, or b) standards different from those applied to other students in the same course section, or c) a substantial, unreasonable, and unannounced departure from previously articulated standards or the syllabus.

2. Students who believe their grade to be unfair must first discuss the matter with the instructor.

3. If no satisfactory resolution is reached with the instructor, or if the instructor is unavailable, the student shall appeal to the Department Head. A grade appeal must be initiated in writing with the Department Head (or Dean if the Department Head is the instructor) within six (6) months of the last day of the semester in which the grade was awarded. The Department Head will examine the student's appeal to determine whether the student has established an apparent case of unfair academic evaluation as described in section 1. If the student has not established a case that appears to have merit, the Department Head will so inform the student and the instructor without delay.

4. If the case has merit, the Department Head will secure, from all parties, written statements and other such information as he or she deems helpful and will issue his or her findings and remedies, if any. In so doing, the Department Head will be guided by the principle the burden of proof lies with the student.

5. The instructor or the student may appeal the Department Head's decision (with respect to findings and remedies) to the Dean of the College in which the course is offered within 30 days of the date on which the Department Head offered his or her judgment.

6. Upon receipt of an appeal, the Dean will appoint a three-person advisory committee of faculty to hear the case. The chair of the committee will be from a department other than the one offering the course in question. The two remaining committee members will be from the department offering the course. One of these faculty members may be suggested by the author of the appeal. The instructor and the student may file additional statements. The committee will review all written materials and may seek other information, as they deem appropriate. After reviewing all information, the committee will communicate their findings and suggested remedies, if any, to the Dean.

7. The Dean is the final authority on issues of fairness in course evaluation. He or she will consider the recommendations of the committee but has wide latitude in resolving the matter.

The Dean too will be guided by the principle that the student must show the evaluation to have been unfair as identified in Section 1.

8. The Dean is responsible for notifying the Office of the Registrar of any decision requiring a change in records.

Protocol and Grading Rubric for Discussion Posts:

Discussion postings must demonstrate an observable understanding of the cases being discussed. The understanding will be at the critical legal thinking level. Discussion postings should be a minimum of one short paragraph and a maximum of two paragraphs. Postings should be evenly made during the discussion period (not concentrated all on one day or at the beginning and/or end of the period) with 4 postings being the target. Avoid postings that are limited to “I agree” or “great idea” or “Judges were spot on in the mule skinning case”, etc. If you agree (or disagree) with the case or a posting of another student please expound as to why you agree or disagree supporting your assertion with concepts from the case or chapter or by bringing in a related example or experience. Try to use quotes from the cases or the chapter to support your posting using page numbers to cite your quotes. Build on the postings of others to create threads. Bring in related prior knowledge (work experience, readings, family experiences, etc.) Use proper etiquette (language, typing, etc.)

Grading Rubric for Discussion Posts:

Criteria	3 (Exceeds Expectations)	2 (Meets Expectations)	1 (Does Not Meet Expectations)
Initial Posting	Posting is well developed that fully addresses and develops all aspects and concepts of the case	Posting is adequately developed and addresses most aspects of the case; lacks full development of concepts of the case	No posting; or copies the post of another; or does not demonstrate an understanding of the case
Frequency	Participates 4 or more times throughout the week	Participates 2-3 times throughout the week	Participates not at all; or copies the post of another
Follow-Up Posting	Demonstrates analysis of other’s postings; extends meaningful discussion by building on previous postings	Elaborates on an existing posting without further comment or observation or does not enrich discussion	Posts no follow-up responses to others; or copies the post of another; or merely agrees or disagrees
Content Contribution	Posts factually correct, reflective and substantive contribution; invites and advances discussion	Repeats facts of case; lacks full development of concept or thought; or does not add substantive information to discussion	No post or posts information that is off-topic, incorrect, or irrelevant to discussion; or copies the post of another
Clarity &amp; Mechanics	Contributes to discussion with clear, concise comments formatted in an easy to read style that is free of grammatical or spelling errors	Contributes information to discussion with minor clarity or mechanics errors	No post or posts long, unorganized or rude content that may contain multiple errors or may be inappropriate; or copies the post of another

Case Brief Instructions and Grading Rubric:

Please note that, unlike the case you have been assigned, the cases in the textbook have been stripped down to a fundamental legal issue related to the chapter of study and do not contain much of the procedural aspects you may find in your case.

DECIDE ON A FORMAT AND STICK TO IT: Structure is essential to a good brief. It enables you to arrange systematically the related parts that are scattered throughout most cases, thus making manageable and understandable what might otherwise seem to be an endless and unfathomable sea of information. There are, of course, an unlimited number of formats that can be utilized. However, it is best to find one that suits your needs and stick to it. Consistency breeds both efficiency and the security that when called upon you will know where to look in your brief for the information you are asked to give. Be mindful that the operative word is "brief"; ideally the case brief should be about one page in length and never over two pages.

Nevertheless, it is important that a brief contain the following:

TITLE AND VENUE: Identify the case name and citation in the correct format.

RULE OF LAW: A statement of the general principle of law that the case illustrates in the form of a statement.

Determining the rule of law of a case is a procedure similar to determining the issue of the case. Avoid being fooled by red herrings; there may be a few rules of law mentioned in the case excerpt, but usually only one is the rule with which the judges are most concerned. The techniques used to locate the issue, described below, may also be utilized to find the rule of law.

FACTS: A synopsis of only the essential relevant facts of the case, i.e. those bearing upon or leading up to the issue. The facts entry should be a short statement of the events that led one party to initiate legal proceedings against another in the first place. While some cases conveniently state the salient facts at the beginning of the decision, in other instances they will have to be culled from hiding places throughout the text, even from concurring and dissenting opinions. Some of the "facts" will often be in dispute and should be so noted. Conflicting evidence may be briefly pointed up. It is impossible to tell what is relevant until the entire case is read, as the ultimate determination of the rights and liabilities of the parties may turn on something buried deep in the opinion. The facts entry should seldom be longer than five sentences.

ISSUE: A statement of the general legal question answered by or illustrated in the case (Do not attempt to delve into procedural issues; just focus on the substantive legal issue). For clarity, the issue is best put in the form of a question capable of a yes or no answer. In reality, the issue is simply the Concise Rule of Law put in the form of a question.

The major problem presented in discerning what is the issue in the case is that an opinion usually purports to raise and answer several questions. However, except for rare cases, only one such question is really the issue in the case. Collateral issues not necessary to the resolution of the matter in controversy are handled by the court by language known as obiter dictum or merely dictum. While dicta may be included later in the brief, it has no place under the issue heading.

To find the issue, the student again asks who wants what and then goes on to ask why did that party succeed or fail in getting it. Once this is determined, the "why" should be turned into a question.

Since many issues are resolved by a court in coming to a final disposition of a case, you should focus on the portion of the opinion containing the issue or issues most relevant to the area of law under scrutiny. A noted law professor gave this advice: "Look at the case key or head notes". It is also most important to remember to read the key or head notes at the beginning of a case to determine what the editors of the case reporter have gleaned from it.

OPINION AND DECISION: This section should succinctly explain the rationale of the court in arriving at its decision. In capsulizing the reasoning of the court, it should always include an application of the general rule or rules of law to the specific facts of the case. Hidden justifications come to light in this entry; the reasons for the state of the law, the public policies, the biases and prejudices, those considerations that influence the justices' thinking and, ultimately, the outcome of the case. At the end, there should be a short indication of the disposition or procedural resolution of the case. You may wish to put this portion of the brief in outline form.

USE OF PRECEDENT: You should relate how the rule of law discernible from this case compares with that derived from earlier and later cases. Where does this case fit in the series of cases which has shaped the relevant portion of the law?

EFFECT ON BUSINESS AND SOCIETY: You should briefly summarize the impact and effect that the ruling in the case will have on business and society.

REMEMBER THAT THE OPERATIVE WORD IS "BRIEF".

How I was taught in law school to brief cases – the IRAC Method:

(I)ssue(s) – What are the “questions of law” as determined by the facts?

(R)ule(s) – What are the most “persuasive” rules from other cases; either “on point” (i.e., identical) or similar to the case in question?. (The higher the court ruling, the more persuasive)

(A)pplication – How do briefed case’s facts meet or don’t meet the rules identified in the briefed case? (i.e., How do YOU think the court in the briefed case should have ruled?)

(C)onclusion – After this written analysis, what do YOU think the case argument is or should have been? In other words, do you disagree or agree with the court and WHY.

Grading Rubric for Case Brief:

Written Case Brief	3 (Exceeds Expectations)	2 (Meets Expectations)	1 (Does Not Meet Expectations)
Identification – Heading	Identifies case name and citation in correct format	Identifies case name and citation incorrectly	Incomplete/Not provided; or incorrect
Issue/Legal Question	Issue correctly identified and is stated in the form of a question	Issue is not completely identified	Incomplete/Not provided; or incorrect
Rule/Relevant Law	Rule is correctly identified and is in the form of a statement	Rule is not completely identified	Incomplete/Not provided; or incorrect
Facts	Includes all relevant facts and the reasoning logically connects the facts to the rule in accord with the opinion.	Does not include all key facts and reasoning; or incoherent; or is not in accord with the opinion.	Incomplete/Not provided; or incorrect
Effect on Business and Society	Summation of the effect of the ruling in the case on business and society	Summation incompletely or incorrectly addresses the effect and ruling.	Incomplete/Not provided; or incorrect
Opinion and Decision	Properly identified the vote of the court and official opinion of the court and relevant information in formulation of opinion, and summation of concurring or dissenting opinions.	Identified the official opinion of the court, incomplete mention of concurring or dissenting opinions	Incomplete/Not provided; or incorrect
Use of Precedent	Properly identified the cases used as precedent along with explanation of how case shapes the relevant law.	Identified some of the cases used as precedent, no explanation on shaping relevant law.	Incomplete/Not provided; or incorrect
