Introduction:

This course is restricted to students working on specialized curriculum study projects for secondary AFNR or FCS instruction. The student is expected to investigate, identify, and report on curriculum resources for secondary instruction in a course in Agriculture, Food, and Natural Resources (AFNR) or Family and Consumer Sciences (FCS).

Deliverables will be submitted to the professor before the end of the semester and will include a practical presentation and written critical analyses of resources indexed.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the course the student will be able to:
1. Identify curriculum resources appropriate for secondary AFNR/FCS instruction.
2. Review resources for depth and breadth of content in context of workforce preparation.
3. Examine opportunities for experiential learning and leadership development within context of course content.

Potential Courses:

The following secondary courses have been pre-approved for this semester:
1. Advanced Animal Science
2. Veterinary Medical Applications
3. Principles of Education and Training
4. Food Science
