Course Description:

The course examines the media's effects on perceptions of crime and justice in America. An examination is performed on media generated crime and criminal justice policies. An example of media-generated crime would be when politicians/media "emphasize" a problem to essentially 'create' a crime or crime wave. A discussion of the effect of social constructionism and the ability of the various types of media to create a new type of crime will occur. An investigation of the impact of various types of media (radio, television, motion pictures, and printed sources, etc.) on criminals, crime fighters and the courts will be conducted. An example of the topics to be discussed is the drug problem, sex offenders, murders and etc.

Student Learning Outcomes:

1. To demonstrate an understanding of core concepts of sociology, criminology, and cultural studies as applied to mass media and its portrayal of crime. This will be achieved through a combination of written and discussion-based activities.
2. To demonstrate the academic skill of researching a topic reflective of mass media and crime scholarship through creating discussion board peer comments.
3. To apply the core concepts by reflectively and informatively contributing to dialogues on a variety of topics including but not limited to fictional and journalistic construction of crime, of law enforcement, of the judicial process, and incarceration.
4. To demonstrate an understanding of how historical and cultural context contributes to one's consideration of issues of mass media and crime.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional / Methods / Activities Assessments

This course will provide a variety of activities and assessments to assist you in achieving the outcomes/objectives for the course. Each week you will work toward achieving these outcomes through discussions and comments, a course project, and exams. Below is an explanation of each course requirement including due date, assignment instructions, and other requirements.

A core component of this course is critical thinking. Critical thinking requires students to think through situations, facts, and issues in an open-minded and objective way in an effort to analyze and evaluate information in an informed manner. Qualities of a critical thinker (and of arguments that embody critical thinking) include:

- Certainty is not always necessary for a critical thinker; possibility and probability should always be a consideration—in other words, just because the book tells you it is true, does not mean that there may not be another solution or possibility to consider. The way that facts relate to one another—and not just fact alone—should be used to determine truth.
- Critical thinkers are not only independent thinkers; they are also fair-minded in that they are willing to consider all points of view, and they are careful to take every aspect of an argument into consideration—your way of thinking may not necessarily be the only way or the right way of thinking. Consider other perspectives
- Consider evidence (facts), source (from what source did your evidence come from), and motivations (what might be the underlying motivation behind these facts)—in other words, gather information from credible sources and evaluate these sources/factual information in the context of what you have been asked to discuss/evaluate.
- When posting discussions/comments, preparing the homework assignment, and taking exams, use the following to help you critically think through the question being asked. You will be graded (in part) on how well you perform these tasks.
- Determine the problem/issue you are trying to solve. Make sure you remain open-minded and objective and be aware of your own biases on the subject and put them aside.

- Develop a hypothesis and/or possible solution to the problem/issue. Brainstorm other possible solutions. Think about the pros and cons of the problem/issue.
- Gather information on the problem/issue that may support or contradict your position.
  - Analyze your facts. Do not assume anything. Evaluate the facts objectively;
  - Determine a reasonable conclusion based on all of the facts;
  - Make sure your facts (and the reporting of the facts) are accurate. You may assume a causal relationship but there might be other possible conclusions to be drawn based on other factors. Be sure to evaluate what those might be.

This course also requires that you utilize APA citation format for all discussions/ assignments/exams. See Course and University Policies/Procedures for more information on how to cite using APA.

- Introduction: 1 Introduction @ 30 course points= 30 course points
  - Student Learning Outcomes #1-#5: The Introduction is a chance for you to ‘meet’ your colleagues (although most of you likely know each other by now) in the class and an opportunity to introduce yourself to your professor. You will also be required to answer a course-related question. Specific instructions on what to post are available when you click on Introduction in Week #1. The Introductory post is due on Monday of Week #1 of the course no later than 11:00 PM CST.
- Discussion Posts: (10 discussion posts @ 60 points each = 600 course points)
  - Student Learning Outcomes #1, #3, and # 4: The student will obtain a basic understanding of important issues in mass media and crime. The student will learn to utilize critical thinking skills. The student will learn how to apply course concepts to ‘real life’ victimization/issues. The student will be an active and engaged participant in discussion forums by analyzing and evaluating information presented within the textbook, external readings/resources, student research, and class activities.
  - The discussion forums are related to the chapter readings and other materials. Upon completion or near completion of the assigned readings and activities, you are expected to engage in an ongoing discussion/debate with your classmates. Your contributions to the discussion forums will be graded for quality, timeliness of your contributions, and a detailed analysis linking together theory (readings) to application (activities/’real life’ CJ/mass media issues).
  - Discussion posts will be posted within the first day class. The content of these posts may be found in eCollege (See below under Technology Requirements for more on accessing/turning in assignments using ECollege). Posts are due by Thursday, 11:00PM CST. NO LATE POSTS WILL BE ACCEPTED.
  - You are required to answer the discussion questions using your textbook/additional materials (if applicable/required) as your primary source(s).

Additional source materials are always welcome and should be cited accordingly and are sometimes required in order for you to complete the assignment. Please read the assignment directions carefully.

- Your main posts/initial response to the question should be A MINIMUM of 250 words in length. Please keep in mind that ALL posts must be substantive and meaningful. Proper grammar and word usage are required. I will take this opportunity to remind you that your discussion posts are formal assignments and will therefore be graded as such. Failure to cite will result in an automatic 30 point deduction.
- Comment Posts: (10 posts @ 12 points each = 120 course points)
  - Student Learning Outcomes #1, #3 and # 4: The student will learn to utilize critical thinking skills. The student will be an active and engaged participant in discussion forums by analyzing and evaluating information presented within the textbook, external readings/resources, student research, and class activities.
  - Comment posts are responses you make to the 10 discussion posts that you and your classmates have posted during the course. You are to post one (1) substantive peer comment for each discussion. Comment posts should be a MINIMUM of 100 words in length.
  - Comment posts should be meaningful. Merely agreeing or disagreeing with a classmate will not be looked upon favorably and will result in a loss of points. A meaningful post is one that moves the discussion forward in some substantive way through providing one's perspective, additional information through research, or reframing the discussion in some new way. You are expected to engage in an ongoing discussion/debate with your classmates. Your comments will be graded for quality, timeliness of your contributions, and relevance. NO LATE COMMENTS ARE ACCEPTED. Comments are due by Friday, 11:00PM CST.
  - Please note that comments will be tallied WEEKLY and entered into the gradebook on an ongoing basis. This will allow students to 'follow' their comments grade in real time.
    - Assessment Method: Discussion assignments will be graded using the Discussion Post/Comments Grading Rubric provided in Appendix A of the syllabus.
- Exams: (1 exam @ 100 points = 100 course points)
  - There will be 1 exam in this course. Exam will be 1 hour in length and will be accessible for a 17-hour period beginning at 6:00AM until 11:00PM CST that evening. Students will be notified of the precise format of the test prior to exam day. YOU WILL ONLY BE ALLOWED TO ACCESS THE EXAM ONCE. See under

    - There will be 1 written project for this course. You will be required to complete a 1000 word essay on the following topic: “The Media’s Impact on Crime and Delinquency”. In your essay you will need to take a position and provide supporting evidence for your stance. You will have an option to choose one of the following statements to be used as your thesis.
      - Option 1- Media (i.e. internet, Facebook, Twitter, Kik, movies, video games, popular music) have an impact on Crime and Delinquency in the United States.
      - Option 2- Media (i.e. internet, Facebook, Twitter, Kik, movies, video games, popular music) does not have an impact on Crime and Delinquency in the United States.
    - Once you choose your thesis statement you will need to find a specific case(s) to analyze to support your position. For example, some pundits argue a guilty verdict was avoided in the Casey Anthony trial because the media negatively impacted the District Attorney’s case.
      - After you find the case(s) to analyze, you will then focus a large portion of your essay on what the RESEARCH says about the position you choose. For example, (Smith, 2014) argues the media has no significant impact on crime and delinquency in the United States. Research conducted on....shows.....
      - Lastly, you will provide conclusions- which support your position and summarize your findings.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Procedures:

Academic Honesty

Students who violate University rules on scholastic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary penalties, including (but not limited to) receiving a failing grade on the assignment, the possibility of failure in the course and dismissal from the University. Since dishonesty harms the individual, all students, and the integrity of the University, policies on scholastic dishonesty will be strictly enforced. In ALL instances, incidents of academic dishonesty will be reported to the Department Head. Please be aware that academic dishonesty includes (but is not limited to) cheating, plagiarism, and collusion.

Cheating is defined as:

- Copying another's test or assignment
- Communication with another during an exam or assignment (i.e. written, oral or otherwise)
- Giving or seeking aid from another when not permitted by the instructor
- Possessing or using unauthorized materials during the test
- Buying, using, stealing, transporting, or soliciting a test, draft of a test, or answer key

Plagiarism is defined as:

- Using someone else's work in your assignment without appropriate acknowledgement
- Making slight variations in the language and then failing to give credit to the source

Collusion is defined as:

- Collaborating with another, without authorization, when preparing an assignment

If you have any questions regarding academic dishonesty, ask. Otherwise, I will assume that you have full knowledge of the academic dishonesty policy and agree to the conditions as set forth in this syllabus.

- Students should also reference the following link for more detailed information.

Policy for Reporting Problems with eCollege

Should students encounter eCollege-based problems while submitting assignments/discussions/comments/exams, the following procedure MUST be followed.

- Students must report the problem to the help desk. You may reach the helpdesk at helpdesk@online.tamuc.org or 1-866-656-5511
- Students MUST file their problem with the helpdesk and obtain a helpdesk ticket number
- Once a helpdesk ticket number is in your possession, students should Email me to advise me of the problem and to provide me with the helpdesk ticket number
- At that time, I will call the helpdesk to confirm your problem and follow up with you

PLEASE NOTE: Personal computer/access problems are not a legitimate excuse for filing a ticket with the helpdesk. I strongly encourage you to check for compatibility of your browser BEFORE the course begins and to take the eCollege tutorial offered for students who may require some extra assistance in navigating the eCollege platform. ONLY eCollege-based problems are legitimate.

Missed Work/ Make Up Policy

There will be no make-up work (including the final) except for students with documented medical excuses, students observing official religious holidays, and students on official college business. It is up to the student to advise me in advance if the student will miss class and/or not be able to take the exam due to official college business or religious holiday and to make alternative testing arrangements.

Attendance Policy

While this is an online course, students are expected to 'attend class' and actively participate. Student participation/activity will be monitored by the professor. Students should plan to dedicate approximately 30 hours/course of time to this course, of which approximately 1 hour/on alternate days should be spent in the discussion board (reading posts and comments and conversing with others).

APA Citation Format Policy

It is very important that you learn how to cite properly. In some ways, citations are more important than the actual text of your paper. Therefore, you should take this task seriously and devote some time to understanding how to cite properly. If you take the time to understand this process up front, it will save you a significant amount of time in the long run (not to mention significant deductions in points).

In the social and behavioral sciences (including Criminal Justice), we use APA (American Psychological Association) format. As a rule of thumb, one cites whenever they are paraphrasing other people's words or when they quote other's words directly. You may learn to cite from a variety of different sources including the APA Style Sheet that is located in DocSharing in ECollege. You may also choose to access the following websites:

- www.apastyle.org
- <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/02/>
- www.library.cornell.edu/resrch/citmanage/apa

Late Work

In principle, I do not accept late work and do not believe in allowing students to turn in work after the due date. My position is that everyone knows the rules of engagement at the beginning of the semester and that it is the student's responsibility to ensure that they plan accordingly to submit their assignments in a timely manner.

Drop Course Policy

I do not have a policy on nor do I condone the curving of grades. Your grades in this class will be an accurate reflection of your time, effort, and commitment to the subject matter at hand. Everyone begins this class with an 'A'. What you choose to do with that grade as the term progresses is up to you. You know up front what the requirements of this course are. If you are not willing or able to commit the time and effort to this class, you cannot and should not expect me to 'give you a break'. Students should take responsibility for dropping themselves from the course according to University policy should this become necessary. I will not do it for you.

University Specific Procedures

ADA Statement

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:

I highly recommend that you follow the schedule outlined below VERY CAREFULLY so that you are sure to complete readings as assigned and submit your assignments on time.

Please note that all homework assignments/discussions/comments/exams are due by 11:00PM CST in eCollege on the day they are due as outlined in the syllabus.

Please note that your book for this class is a combination textbook and reader. What that means is that each chapter in the book begins with information as you might find in a textbook, followed by readings (some original to the book, others adapted from other sources).
