Course Description

The purpose of this course is to introduce students to the field of psychology and to give a general understanding of the basic principles of psychology. Since it is intended to cover a variety of topics within psychology, it provides an overview of the field necessary for later courses.

This course will highlight some of the most interesting experiments within the field of psychology, discussing the implications of those studies for our understanding of the human mind and human behavior. We will explore the brain and some of the cognitive abilities it supports like learning, memory, perception, language, and consciousness. We will examine human development --- both in terms of growing up and growing older. We will discuss the manner in which the behaviors of others affect our own thoughts and behavior. Finally we will discuss some of the mental disorders and the treatments.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Develop an overview of the field of psychology by studying and reflecting on the topics.
2. Appreciate how psychologists take a scientific approach to understanding human behavior and thought.
3. Practice the convention of scientific discourse appropriate to the audience, purpose and message.
4. Explain the real world phenomena by applying the concepts, theories, and methods learned in our course. Learning how to learn is a good start.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

The essential computer skills in modern life: See an example at <http://www.yti.edu/blog/top-four-essential-computer-skills.asp>

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Use D2L
Use Socrative on your mobile devices.

Instructional Methods

This is a face-to-face course. I cannot emphasize enough the value of collective listening, which is articulated so well by Professor Monessa Cummins at Grinnell College.

“Can [students] listen to a political candidate with a critical year? Can they go and listen to their minister with an analytical ear? Can they listen to one another? One of the things a lecture does is build that habit.”

During our lecture, we will focus on deepening your understanding of the important concepts and theories through lectures, demonstrations, and class discussions. We will also use a variety of assignments to encourage your pursuit of active learning.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

Throughout our course, we will learn the science of how to learn and practice them. The following are some basics.

- 1) Check and read class emails promptly for announcements, updates, clarifications, etc.
- 2) Take notes as you listen to lectures, read the assigned parts of the textbook to check if your listening comprehension matches with the textbook descriptions, and fill in the missing pieces. This will help you on the quizzes.
- 3) Quiz yourself often. Can you define a concept in your own words? Can you answer 3 or 4 questions of the textbook retrieval practice correctly?
- 4) Review the materials on a regular basis. Consider the Pomodoro technique. Set aside 20-25 minutes each time and study.

GRADING

To be on the safe side, assume that I grade on a numerical scale. However, I reserve the right to reward exemplary attendance and participation.

- A = 90-100%
- B < 90%
- C < 80%
- D < 70%
- F < 60%

Questions about Grades: Any questions about a grade for a particular assignment, quiz, or exam should be brought to my attention within a week of the particular grade being posted.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Assessments

Learning Engagement: Below are a few basic elements that go into learning engagement.

1. Maintain good attendance. While anyone can be late on rare occasions, habitual lateness is unacceptable. Once in class, be prepared to stay for the entire class period. If you must miss a class, you are responsible for what transpires during class sessions.
2. Be respectful toward all members of the class and their views.
3. Electronics policy in class: Electronics can only be used when it is announced by instructor. Research suggests that the use of such devices hinders both your learning and your nearby peers' learning. Frequent uninstructed use of electronics will cost you a letter grade.
4. Learning engagement will primarily be assessed via your performance on the in-class assignments and my assessment of your class participation.

Disruptive behavior or disrespect toward other students or the instructor will not be tolerated. At the very least, it will cost a letter grade, and is subject to further penalty.

Learning Engagement Total: 5%

In-class Assignments: The questions will align with each of the 4 learning outcomes. Most of the assignments will be in a quiz format. There will be short answer questions, multiple-choice questions, and/or T/F questions. You may use your textbook or notes during the quizzes. However, the assignments are timed. So, you need to review the assignment materials before class.

Virtually every week there will be some in-class assignments throughout the semester. You will have to be present in class to get credit for these assignments. You must bring your mobile device with you. Please remember to fully charge your device in advance.

You are required to work independently.

There is no makeup, however, up to 4 lowest grades can be dropped in the final grade calculation.

In-class Assignment Total: 20%

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Hands-on Experience Assignments: Instructors will announce these hands-on activities in advance. To receive credits, students are required to follow the procedure announced promptly and successfully complete the activities.

You must bring your laptop or mobile device with you. Please remember to fully charge your device in advance.

There is no makeup, so please attend to the class announcement in advance. If you absolutely must miss one, you will be given alternative assignment. At the maximum, you can miss two assignments.

Hands-on Experience Assignment Total: 5%

Exams: There are 3 exams. The exams are to be taken closed-book. There will be NO after the fact make-up examinations. If for some REAL emergency you must miss an exam, make sure that you contact me BEFORE the exam. When official documentation is provided, you can do a make-up.

Exam Total: 60%

Common Myth Paper: Instructions for the Common Myth assignments can be found in a separate document titled "PSY 2301 Common Myth Paper Guide Spring 2019 Instruction." Common Myth assignments will be completed via D2L.

Common Myth Paper: 10%

Research Participation via Sona: A goal of this class is to help you familiarize yourself with research methods. One way to obtain this goal is to have you participate in research studies. Participating in research studies contributes to students and faculty at A&M - Commerce, your understanding of how research is conducted, and human knowledge in general. All students in this class will be required to participate in the psychology department's participant pool or complete alternative assignments (see me for more information on alternative assignments).

Students must complete a total of 6 experiment credits. However, if you complete your first 4 experiment credits without any "no-shows" you will receive 2 free punctual participant credits. In other words, if you show up to your experiments on time you will only need to complete 4 experiment credits. When you first sign into the experiment management system (EMS) you will be asked to take a prescreen. The prescreen takes about 20 minutes to complete. If you complete the prescreen in the first two weeks of the semester you will receive 0.5 free experiment credit. This can be combined with later experiments that are worth 0.5 credit.

If you fail to complete this portion of the class your grade will be lowered by one full grade. In effect, if you have an 'A' in the class but fail to complete your research participation (either through participating in research studies, alternative assignments, or a mixture of both) your final grade in the class will be a 'B.' More information about participating in research, such as how to log in to the EMS, is posted at D2L.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Failure to Complete Research Participation via Sona: -10%

Browser support

D2L is committed to performing key application testing when new browser versions are released. New and updated functionality is also tested against the latest version of supported browsers. However, due to the frequency of some browser releases, D2L cannot guarantee that each browser version will perform as expected. If you encounter any issues with any of the browser versions listed in the tables below, contact D2L Support, who will determine the best course of action for resolution. Reported issues are prioritized by supported browsers and then maintenance browsers.

Supported browsers are the latest or most recent browser versions that are tested against new versions of D2L products. Customers can report problems and receive support for issues. For an optimal experience, D2L recommends using supported browsers with D2L products.

Maintenance browsers are older browser versions that are not tested extensively against new versions of D2L products. Customers can still report problems and receive support for critical issues; however, D2L does not guarantee all issues will be addressed. A maintenance browser becomes officially unsupported after one year.
