Course Description

This course is a study of the themes which influenced all human cultures from the earliest times to the present, considered within the context of a comparative framework. Such themes as the impact of technological change on society, the development of means of economic exchange and the structure of religious and ideological systems will be examined. May be repeated for credit up to nine semester hours as topics change. Prerequisites: Non-majors may enroll with consent of department.

Specifically, this course will examine women's roles around the globe during World War II. Women supported, opposed, and resisted the war in many ways – serving on the front lines, keeping the factories and farms afloat on the home front, as well as providing entertainment (not always on their own terms).

This course can be counted towards the Gender Studies Minor.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Students will be able to understand the various roles of women during war.
2. Students will be able to understand the roles of gender and sexuality in history
3. Students will be able to apply knowledge of the interconnectedness of global dynamics

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

Attendance: As the instructor of this section, I allow students to attend class at their own discretion, but students should keep in mind that some assignments are in-class only and will not be eligible for make-up if missed. It is your responsibility to come to class prepared for lecture. If you miss a class it is your responsibility to gather class notes from a classmate. I do take roll for administrative purposes.

Electronics Policy: Our class is a time for learning and discussion. Cell phones and other devices should be turned off during class – unless otherwise specified for an in-class activity. Airplane mode is preferred. If you are using a laptop/tablet, it should be used solely for note taking. If I feel you are using your devices for something other than taking notes you will be asked to power the device down.

Student Behavior: Behavior which may result in your being asked to leave my class includes, but is not limited to: sleeping, talking during lectures, movies or clips, text messaging, gaming, playing with your phone, using electronic devices other than for specified activities, and working on another course's work/homework during my class.

Instructions for in-class exams: Bring a blue or black ink pen. Bluebooks will be distributed in class. Bring as few belongings to class as possible on exam days and arrive early. All cell phones and other electronics (including smart watches) will be off and stored away from your desk.

Expectations for Out-of-Class Study: Beyond the time required to attend each class meeting, students enrolled in this course should expect to spend at least an additional 9 hours per week of their own time in course-related activities, including reading required materials, completing assignments, preparing for exams, etc.

GRADING

Grading: This course is based on the 100-point system. All assignments are worth 100 points. The final exam is weighted the same as the other exams. I do not round up. If you earn an 89.9 you will receive a B for the course.

Final grades are determined on the following scale:

100 –90 = A, 89 –80 = B, 79 –70 = C, 69 –60 = D, 59 and below = F

Assessments

There will be weekly reading from the assigned texts as well as additional materials posted in D2L. This course has three (3) take home written essay exams, one (1) film analysis, three (3) reading response papers, and one (1) final reflection paper and discussion. Professionalism and course engagement is also assessed.

Weight of major assignments and examinations for this course are as follows:

• Classroom professionalism and course engagement:	15%
• Reading response papers – three (3) total:	30%
• Take home written exams – three (3) total:	30%
• Film analysis (1):	10%
• Final reflection paper and discussion:	15%

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIESClassroom Behavior

All students are expected to observe basic tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment (See Student's Guide Handbook, Policies and Procedures, Conduct). During class time, I expect your undivided attention. This means turning off cell phones, and other devices, and putting away any other forms of distraction, for the duration of the class period (exceptions will be allowed for emergencies with advance permission of the professor). Please come to class on time and plan to stay for the entire period. Coming late and/or disrupting the learning environment shows disrespect for me, your colleagues, and the educational endeavor in which you are engaged. If you must leave early, please let me know at the beginning of class. I encourage you to come to my office hours, to get to know me, and to keep me informed of any issues you might have that would affect your performance in this class.

Late Papers

All written assignments are due as indicated in this Syllabus. Late assignments may be accepted only with the advance approval of the professor and may be assessed a penalty of one letter grade per week. If you have a problem with a due date because of a specific emergency, please notify the professor in advance or plan to turn the assignment in early. I can be very understanding and flexible with you, but only if you come to talk to me in advance (when possible). To pass this class, all assignments must be completed. Any missing assignments at the end of the course will receive a grade of F.

Academic Honesty

In all courses, we expect that all work that you do and turn in is your own. It is the policy of the University, the History Department, and me that no form of plagiarism, cheating, collusion or any other form of academic dishonesty will be tolerated. Plagiarism is defined as deliberately taking the words or ideas of someone else and passing them off as your own. Cheating is obtaining unauthorized assistance on any assignment. Collusion is the selling of academic products with the intention that they be submitted to satisfy an academic requirement. Students are expected to uphold and support the highest academic standards at all times. Any student found guilty of academic dishonesty will automatically fail the assignment in question, will likely fail the entire course, and will be subject to disciplinary action by the University (See Texas A&M University-Commerce Code of Student Conduct 5.b[1,2,3]). Further information on the History Department plagiarism policy can be found on the History Department web page. If you are even unclear about what constitutes plagiarism or academic dishonesty, please ask.

Writing Center

Students are encouraged to take advantage of the resources of the Writing Center for assistance with drafting their papers. The Writing Center is a resource for you. They will not write your paper; they will help you improve your writing skills. If you use the Writing Center, please plan ahead. They can only help you if you see them in advance and have time to incorporate their suggestions into the final paper. More information
