COURSE INFORMATION

Materials – Textbooks, Readings, Supplementary Readings

Textbook(s) Required

Bachman, R., & Schutt, R.K. (2017). The practice of research in criminology and criminal justice, 6th edition. Los Angeles, CA: Sage. ISBN: 978-1-5063-0681-0.

Optional

Other materials/readings as assigned and posted in DocSharing in D2L.

Course Description

This course covers the basic techniques and procedures used in the process of criminal justice research. Topics include: defining research problems, ethics in criminal justice research, selecting and measuring variables, stating hypotheses, sampling, and developing experimental research designs.

Prerequisites

Please note that prerequisites for this course include 501, 568, 530, and 531. Students who are registered for this class and who do not meet the prerequisites should contact the Director and Advisor of the MS in Applied Criminology program.

Student Learning Outcomes

At the end of the course students will be able to:

1. Think critically about important issues in criminal justice research methodology
2. Understand how to conduct criminal justice research
3. Problem-solve solutions to methodological problems
4. Enhance communication skills and reading/research/writing acumen

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional Methods/Activities/Assessments

This course will provide a variety of activities and assessments to assist you in achieving the outcomes/objectives for the course. You will work toward achieving these outcomes through discussions/comments, assignments, and tests. Below is an explanation of each course requirement including due date, assignment instructions, and other requirements.

Introduction/Discussions/Comments/Posts (SLOs)

When preparing discussions/comments/assignments/papers/etc., use the following to help you critically think through each task. You will be graded (in part) on how well you are able to perform this skill.

- Determine the problem/issue you are trying to solve. Make sure you remain open-minded and objective and be aware of your own biases on the subject and put them aside
- Develop a hypothesis and/or possible solution to the problem/issue. Brainstorm other possible solutions. Think about the pros and cons of the problem/issue
- Gather information on the problem/issue that may support or contradict your position
- Analyze your facts. Don't assume anything. Evaluate the facts objectively
- Determine a reasonable conclusion based on all of the facts
- Make sure your facts (and the reporting of the facts) are accurate. You may assume a causal relationship but there might be other possible conclusions to be drawn based on other factors.
- Be sure to evaluate what those might be

Introduction/Discussion Posts

The Introduction is a chance for you to 'meet' your colleagues (although most of you likely know each other by now) in the class and an opportunity to introduce yourself to your professor. You will also be required to answer a course-related question. Specific instructions on what to post are available when you click on Introduction in Week #1.

The Introductory post is due on Wednesday of Week #1 of the course.

The Discussions are directly related to the assigned readings. Upon completion of the assigned readings, you are expected to engage in an ongoing discussion/debate with your classmates. Your contributions to the discussion forums will be graded for quality and a detailed analysis linking the material to a critical appraisal of theory, policy, and practice. The introduction of outside materials is not mandatory (unless otherwise noted in the discussion topic assignment), but is highly recommended. In all cases, students must cite in-text and provide a full bibliography/works cited at the end of their post for all citations mentioned in the post (See information later in the syllabus for more information on citing utilizing APA citation format. Also see the 'How to Cite' FactSheet in the CJ 500 Orientation Course).

These posts should be the equivalent of 1 page in length or a minimum of 250 words. The specific discussion assignment is located in each unit Week by clicking on the Discussion link.

Assessment Method:

- 1 Introduction @ 50 points;
- 4 discussion posts @ 100 points each = 450 course points

Posts are due by 11:00PM CST on Thursdays with the exception of Discussion #1 which is due on Saturday.

Comment Posts

Comment posts are responses you make to the discussion posts that you and your classmates post each week. You are required to make a minimum of five comments each week. I would strongly encourage you to engage your colleagues well past the four-comment minimum in order to maximize your opportunity for meaningful discussion and learning.

Comment posts should be meaningful. Merely agreeing or disagreeing with a classmate will not be looked upon favorably and will result in a loss of points. A meaningful post is one that moves the discussion forward in some substantive way through providing one's perspective, additional information through research, or reframing the discussion in some new way. You are expected to engage in an ongoing discussion/debate with your classmates. Your comments will be graded for quality, and relevance. Your comments will also be graded based on your ability to engage in critical thinking. Students must provide one outside source for at least one comment that they make.

NO LATE COMMENTS ARE ACCEPTED. All comment posts are due by 11:00PM CST on Saturdays with the exception of Comments for Discussion #1 which are due on Sunday.

Assessment Method: Comments will be graded using the Comments Grading Rubric attached to the Discussion Post Grading Rubric. The discussion and Comments for each week will be graded together and posted as one grade (Discussion = 100 + Comments 5@ 10 points each = 150 points/week).

Assignments

Students are required to complete an annotated bibliography and a literature review for this course. These assignments are linked and you must complete one before completing another. This will make more sense as you read below.

Before completing either assignment, you must choose a topic that you are interested in studying in criminal justice. This can be any topic, but ideally it is a topic that you feel strongly about/have great interest in, as the work you do in this class is the foundation for what you will continue in CJ 576 and complete in CJ 595. Therefore, you should give this topic some serious consideration.

Annotated Bibliography Instructions (100 points):

Your first order of business is to choose your topic. This topic forms the basis for your Annotated Bibliography and Literature Review. As you will have the opportunity to receive this syllabus prior to the start of the course, I highly recommend that you begin the process of selecting a topic immediately.

You want to strike a balance between a topic that is too broad and one that is too narrow. This is difficult. In order to work toward a viable topic, you might first consider brainstorming issues/topics of interest on a piece of paper. Then, you might consider narrowing down your interests to one or two topics. Then you should consider conducting some cursory searching in the library databases (CJ Abstracts, SOCIndex, PsychInfo, etc.) on the topics of interest to you. Once you have done this and zeroed in on your topic of choice, it is time to begin the process of writing a research question. Plan to allow some time to accomplish this task. This is not as easy as you think.

You should plan to converse often with your professor via Email during the first week of class to solidify your topic. Developing a topic is a VERY difficult task. Do not be lured into a false sense of security about your topic until and unless your topic has been approved by your professor.

You will want to have an approved topic in hand PRIOR to posting your first discussion due on Saturday of Week #1 as the discussion post is directly related to your paper topic. If you do not, you will be significantly behind in your work for this and other courses (not to mention make a poor grade on the assignment).

As you will learn in this class, there are several different study types. With only limited exceptions, most of you will not be conducting actual research that requires IRB approval, but if you wish to take this route, you need to contact your professor immediately. There is much to be done in a short amount of time. Most of you will likely tackle a policy or practice consideration. For this you will need to rely on information and literature that others have written on the subject.

Once you have selected your topic, your next task is to begin the process of compiling a list of references for possible use in your annotated bibliography. You may have already found several references of interest when you were searching for your topic. At this point, however, you should refine your literature search and hone your list of applicable/relevant resources to 10. Obviously (and with limited exceptions), there will be well more than 10 credible sources that you could use. Your challenge is to pick the 10 most important/relevant articles to your topic.

Annotated bibliographies are not just lists of sources. Instead, they are critical appraisals of the articles/books you have selected. See these links for more explanation of what annotated bibliographies are. They will assist you greatly.

<http://lib.calpoly.edu/research/guides/bibliography.html> or
<http://olinuris.library.cornell.edu/ref/research/skill28.htm>

It isn't enough to provide an abstract (a summary) of an article/book. Instead, you must read the article/book and provide critical evaluation/assessment of what you have read. You will also wish to attempt to make linkages between materials that you read. Some material may agree/disagree/evaluate the same questions differently, etc. You will want to tease out relationships between your materials in the annotated bibliography. This will assist you immensely when you go to write the literature review.

Below is the format for your bibliography entries. You will be graded on your format and your ability to outline the key points of your materials in a clear, concise, and critical way. The sources you use for the annotated bibliography MUST be peer-reviewed publications.

Example:

Goldschneider, F. K., Waite, L. J., & Witsberger, C. (1986). Nonfamily living and the erosion of traditional family orientations among young adults. American Sociological Review, 51(1), 541-554.
doi:9.134823038/4537.390

The authors, researchers at the Rand Corporation and Brown University, conducted research on the impact of family living situations on the adoption or inculcation of family and gender roles. Using data from the National Longitudinal Surveys of Young Women and Young Men, they tested their hypothesis that nonfamily living by young adults alters their attitudes, values, plans, and expectations, moving them away from their belief in traditional sex roles. They found their hypothesis strongly supported in young females, while the effects were fewer in studies of young males. They concluded that increasing the time away from parents before marrying increased individualism, self-sufficiency, and changes in attitudes about families. In contrast, an earlier study by Williams cited below shows no significant gender differences in sex role attitudes as a result of nonfamily living. This was useful to my study to determine consistent patterns reported for adolescents versus adults.

Each annotated bibliography should be at least 200 words but not over 500. Remember, the purpose of an annotated bibliography is to distill only the most important facts and information from the source you are citing. Maximum 12-point font and 1-inch margins. Include your name on the paper and utilize proper APA citation format.

The annotated bibliography is due by 11:00PM CST on Tuesday of Week #4 of the course.

Literature Review Instructions (150 points)

A literature review is substantively different than an annotated bibliography, but the work you do for the bibliography (if you do it correctly) will help you considerably with the literature review.

A literature review aims to highlight the current state of knowledge regarding a particular topic under study (see any journal article you have read for this program and/or the Literature Review FactSheet located in the CJ 500 Orientation course for more). Literature reviews generally include substantive findings as well as theoretical and methodological contributions to a particular topic. Literature reviews are comprised of secondary sources and as such do not report any new or original experimental work. The main purpose of a literature review is to situate the current study/paper within the body of literature and to provide context for the reader.

A literature review is not a summary but a synthesis of the material from your annotated bibliography. As mentioned above, if you took the time to critically evaluate the 10 sources you chose, your literature review will be relatively easy. The idea is to take your sources and organize them in some way that informs the study you wish to conduct/paper you wish to write. This requires that you pull your sources together in a way that explains to the reader why the issue/topic/problem you have identified is worth studying (i.e., not covered in current literature, no consensus in existing literature, augmenting existing literature, etc.)

Your literature review must be a minimum of 8 pages in length (does not include references), maximum 12-point font, 1-inch margins, include your name on the paper, and utilize proper APA citation format.

The literature review is due by 11:00PM CST on Thursday of Week #5 of the course.

Assessment Method: Students will be graded on their annotated bibliography using the Annotated Bibliography Grading Rubric. Students will be graded on their literature review using the Literature Review Grading Rubric.

- 1 assignment with multiple parts = 250 course points;
- 100 points assigned for the annotated bibliography;
- 150 points assigned for your literature review.

Quizzes

You will take two quizzes in this course. They will be multiple choice/true false assessments of your knowledge of chapters 1-7 of your textbook.

- Quiz #1 covers chapters 1-4 of the text) Friday of Week #2 of the course
- Quiz #2 covers chapters 5-7 of the text) Thursday of Week #5 of the course

Quizzes will be available beginning at midnight on Wednesday of the week in which the quiz is assigned and close at 11:00PM on Thursday or Friday of the week in which the quiz is assigned. Students will have only one opportunity to take the exam and the exam will be timed. Specific information regarding test length and time allotted will be available in the quiz link in Week #2 and Week #5.

Assessment Method: Quizzes will be graded automatically with scores available in eCollege.

- 2 @ 100 points each = 200 course points

Course Pre/Post-test (not graded)

Pre and post-tests allow the professor to assess your baseline (foundation) knowledge of a particular subject at the time that you enter a course and the degree of increase in knowledge at the end of the course. This pre/post-test is comprised of no more than 10 questions that will assess your knowledge. You will be asked to complete the pre-test by Friday of Week #1 and your post-test by Friday of Week #4. These tests will not be graded (they are used for assessment purposes only).

GRADING

Assignments for this course will be scored using a points system. Below is an explanation of how each assignment type will be scored.

Assignment Type	# of Assignments	Point Value	Total Points
Introduction	1	50	50
Discussions	4	100	400
Comments	20	10	200
Annotated bibliography	1	100	100
Literature Review	1	150	150
Quizzes	2	100	200
Pre/Post-test	1	0	0
		TOTAL	1100

Grades earned on each assignment will be added together and will be divided by the total number of points possible in the course. Below is the overall point scale/grading schema for the course.

Total points possible for the term = 1100.

1100 - 990 = A
989 - 880 = B
879 - 770 = C
769 - 660 = D
659 and below = F

Grades will be available in the gradebook so that students can track their progress in the course in 'real time'.

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

Browser support

D2L is committed to performing key application testing when new browser versions are released. New and updated functionality is also tested against the latest version of supported browsers. However, due to the frequency of some browser releases, D2L cannot guarantee that each browser version will perform as expected. If you encounter any issues with any of the browser versions listed in the tables below, contact D2L Support, who will determine the best course of action for resolution. Reported issues are prioritized by supported browsers and then maintenance browsers.

Supported browsers are the latest or most recent browser versions that are tested against new versions of D2L products. Customers can report problems and receive support for issues. For an optimal experience, D2L recommends using supported browsers with D2L products.

Maintenance browsers are older browser versions that are not tested extensively against new versions of D2L products. Customers can still report problems and receive support for critical issues; however, D2L does not guarantee all issues will be addressed. A maintenance browser becomes officially unsupported after one year.

Note the following:

- Ensure that your browser has JavaScript and Cookies enabled.
- For desktop systems, you must have Adobe Flash Player 10.1 or greater.
- The Brightspace Support features are now optimized for production environments when using the Google Chrome browser, Apple Safari browser, Microsoft Edge browser, Microsoft Internet Explorer browser, and Mozilla Firefox browsers.

- You will need regular access to a computer with a broadband Internet connection. The minimum computer requirements are:
 - 512 MB of RAM, 1 GB or more preferred
 - Broadband connection required courses are heavily video intensive
 - Video display capable of high-color 16-bit display 1024 x 768 or higher resolution

- You must have a:
 - Sound card, which is usually integrated into your desktop or laptop computer
 - Speakers or headphones.
 - *For courses utilizing video-conferencing tools and/or an online proctoring solution, a webcam and microphone are required.

- Both versions of Java (32 bit and 64 bit) must be installed and up to date on your machine. At a minimum Java 7, update 51, is required to support the learning management system. The most current version of Java can be downloaded at: JAVA web site
<http://www.java.com/en/download/manual.jsp>

- Current anti-virus software must be installed and kept up to date.

 - Apple Quick Time <http://www.apple.com/quicktime/download/>
- At a minimum, you must have Microsoft Office 2013, 2010, 2007 or Open Office. Microsoft Office is the standard office productivity software utilized by faculty, students, and staff. Microsoft Word is the standard word processing software, Microsoft Excel is the standard spreadsheet software, and Microsoft PowerPoint is the standard presentation software. Copying and pasting, along with attaching/uploading documents for assignment submission, will also be required. If you do not have Microsoft Office, you can check with the bookstore to see if they have any student copies.

ACCESS AND NAVIGATION

You will need your campus-wide ID (CWID) and password to log into the course. If you do not know your CWID or have forgotten your password, contact the Center for IT Excellence (CITE) at 903.468.6000 or helpdesk@tamuc.edu.

Note: Personal computer and internet connection problems do not excuse the requirement to complete all course work in a timely and satisfactory manner. Each student needs to have a backup method to deal with these inevitable problems. These methods might include the availability of a backup PC at home or work, the temporary use of a computer at a friend's home, the local library, office service companies, Starbucks, a TAMUC campus open computer lab, etc.

COMMUNICATION AND SUPPORT

If you are having technical difficulty with any part of Brightspace, please contact Brightspace Technical Support at 1-877-325-7778 or click on the Live Chat or click on the words “click here” to submit an issue via email.

System Maintenance

Please note that on the 4th Sunday of each month there will be System Maintenance which means the system will not be available 12 pm-6 am CST.

Interaction with Instructor Statement

My primary form of communication with the class will be through Email. Any changes to the syllabus or other important information critical to the class will be disseminated to students in this way via your official University Email address. It will be your responsibility to check your University Email regularly.

Students who Email me outside of regular office hours can expect a reply within 24 hours M-F. Students who Email me during holidays or over the weekend should expect a reply by the end of the next regularly scheduled business day.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Procedures/Policies

Attendance Policy

While this is an online course, students are expected to ‘attend class’ and actively participate. Student participation/activity will be monitored by the professor. Students should plan to dedicate approximately 15- 20 hours/week of time to this course, of which approximately 1 hour/week should be spent in the discussion board (reading posts and comments and conversing with others).

APA Citation Format Policy

It is very important that you learn how to cite properly. In some ways, citations are more important than the actual text of your paper/assignment. Therefore, you should take this task seriously and devote some time to understanding how to cite properly. If you take the time to understand this process up front, it will save you a significant amount of time in the long run (not to mention significant deductions in points).

In the social and behavioral sciences (including Criminal Justice), we use APA (American Psychological Association) format. As a rule of thumb, one cites whenever they are paraphrasing other people's words or when they quote other's words directly. You may learn to cite from a variety of different sources including the APA Tutorial and the sources listed below and from a document I have placed in the DocSharing section of the course in D2L. www.apastyle.org <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/02/>
www.library.cornell.edu/resrch/citmanage/apa

It is the student's responsibility to understand how to cite properly. If you have questions, feel free to ask.

Late Work

In principle, I do not accept late work and do not believe in allowing students to turn in work after the due date. My position is that everyone knows the rules of engagement at the beginning of the term and that it is the student's responsibility to ensure that they plan accordingly to submit their assignments in a timely manner. However, I also do understand that sometimes there are circumstances outside one's control that may impact timely submission of assignments. To that end, I have developed a policy on late work. Please note that this policy applies ONLY to your Annotated Bibliography Assignment and weekly discussions and comments, and not your quizzes or Literature Review Assignment.

Late assignments will be accepted after the due date and time up to 1 day (24 hours) late with a possible deduction of points. Assignments turned in more than one day late will not be accepted/graded.

Syllabus Change Policy

The syllabus is a guide. Circumstances and events, such as student progress, may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus during the semester. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced in advance.

University Specific Procedures

Student Conduct

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. The Code of Student Conduct is described in detail in the Student Guidebook.

Pursuant to PC 46.035, the open carrying of handguns is prohibited on all A&M-Commerce campuses. Report violations to the University Police Department at 903-886-5868 or 9-1-1.

COURSE OUTLINE / CALENDAR

Every effort will be made to adhere to the course schedule as noted below. However, unforeseen circumstances may require changes to the schedule. In that case, changes will be announced via University Email and in Announcements. The professor reserves the right to change the schedule if necessary and depending on the progress of the class. I highly recommend that you follow the schedule outlined below VERY CAREFULLY so that you are sure to complete readings as assigned and turn your assignments in on time.

Please note that all discussions/comments/assignments are due by 11:00PM CST in D2L on the day they are due as outlined in the syllabus. Please note that this course runs on a Monday-Sunday schedule.

WEEK #1—The Challenges Associated with Social Science Research (Beginning April 1, 2019)
